REVOLT FLARES AT ROOSEVELT SHOT AT GEORGE

Struggle for Party Control Looms.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Politicians in Washington were astounded today by President Roosevelt's unprecedented assault upon Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], and his effort to drive other Democrats out of the senate and out of the party. They foresaw a gigantic struggle for control of the party in congress and in the 1940 Democratic convention.

Vice President John N. Garner of Texas was suggested as the man who will be most influential in the movement of southern and other conservative Democrats to prevent the use of their party as the personal property of Mr. Roosevelt.

Senators Indorse Garner.

Already, Mr. Garner has been indorsed by more than a dozen Democratic senators, either publicly or privately, for the presidential nomination in 1940. Others who may not favor him for the presidential nomination are on his side in the fight to prevent Mr. Roosevelt from dominating the 1940 convention.

Friends of Senator George sharply resent the President's attack on him at Barnesville, Ga., yesterday. They are expected to make their resentment known in the next session of congress regardless of the outcome of the Georgia primary. Senators in Washington recalled that Mr. Roosevelt's intervention in behalf of Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, who was elected majority leader over Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi by one vote, split the party wide open and left political wounds that have not yet healed. The assault upon Senator George, they declared, will have even more far-reaching repercussions.

Confers with Purge Group.

Returning to Washington today, President Roosevelt conferred with members of the White House purge committee concerning the advisability of going into Maryland to make a personal attack upon Senator Millard E. Tydings, one of the nine Democrats originally marked for slaughter at the polls because of their opposition to the court packing bill. Representative David J. Lewis, personally selected by the Roosevelt administration to oppose Senator Tydings, is running as a 100 per cent supporter of the President.

There are many in Washington who believe that the President will make a speech in Maryland and denounce Senator Tydings. Supporters of Representative Lewis even undertook to fix the place, Hagerstown, and the approximate date, "within a week or ten days." The White House, however, was silent on the Tydings-Lewis contest.

The President also may return to South Carolina before the primary, on Aug. 30, for another slap at Senator Ellison D. Smith, as he indicated during a rear platform appearance at Greenville late last night.

Hand Picked Candidate.

With Gov. Olin D. Johnston, the hand picked administration candidate, on the platform, Mr. Roosevelt said: "A long time ago I promised Gov. Johnston that I would come down some time this year to visit the capital of the state of South Carolina. I have never been there, but I am coming."

During the same platform appearance, Mr. Roosevelt inferentially struck at Senator Smith in a remark whose significance was not generally known until today. "I don't believe any family or man can live on 50 cents a day," he said. Soon it was discovered that Senator Smith once made a speech in the senate saying that a family could live on 50 cents a day in the south.

More Severe Against George.

The President was far more severe, however, in Senator George's case. He said the senator could not be classed as a "liberal," implied that he was a "reactionary," and then declared that he "most assuredly would vote for Lawrence Camp" if he could vote in the Sept. 14 Georgia primary.

Mr. Camp, United States attorney at Atlanta, is the administration candidate in the four cornered race, the others being former Gov. Eugene Talmadge and William G. McRae of Atlanta.

To politicians Mr. Roosevelt's effort

JURORS DECREE LIFE IN PRISON; OUT SIX HOURS

Sentence Is Imposed at Once.

South Paris, Me., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Francis M. Carroll, a former deputy sherif, was convicted of first degree murder tonight and sentenced to prison for life in one of the strangest cases in Maine's crime history.

Francis Carroll.

A jury which included seven farmers found him guilty, after deliberating six hours, of slaying Dr. James G. Littlefield, an elderly country physician.

Another man, Paul Dwyer, 19 years old, sweetheart of Carroll's daughter, Barbara, is serving a life sentence for Dr. Littlefield's murder. Dwyer confessed the slaying but later retracted the confession and accused Carroll. He said Carroll killed Littlefield because the doctor had learned of Carroll's improper conduct with Barbara, 18.

Wife Embraces Slayer.

Carroll's face was white as he stood to hear the words that doomed him to join Dwyer behind the walls of Maine's state prison at Thomaston. Justice William H. Fisher ordered the former deputy to serve at hard labor for the balance of his natural life.

The defendant's wife, Ruby, sobbing dryly in her seat among the spectators, broke through the crowd surrounding Carroll and flung her arms around him. She walked with him down the back stairs of the courthouse in which Carroll had served as a deputy sherif. Two other deputies guarded him. Barbara was not in the courtroom.

Dwyer accused Carroll of killing both the doctor and the latter's elderly wife, Lydia Littlefield. Their bodies were found in an automobile in North Arlington, N. J., last fall, a few days after they had been slain. Asleep in the car was Dwyer. When he retracted his confession he said fear of Carroll had led him to admit the slayings.

Daughter Fails to Testify.

In closing arguments this afternoon the jury was asked to decide whether Carroll killed the elderly couple to conceal his conduct with his daughter or whether the murders were committed by Dwyer.

Special Prosecutor Ralph M. Ingalls pointed out that Barbara had not been called to the witness stand to say that her father was not guilty of improper conduct with her.

Defense Counsel Clyde R. Chapman told the jury the case was without parallel and said: "The idea of charging a man with incest when you propose to try him for murder is ungodly."

Youth's Fate Unsettled.

The effect Carroll's conviction will have upon Dwyer's life sentence was not known tonight. Only a pardon can release him from prison.

E. W. Abbott, who was Dwyer's trial attorney, said he would not request a pardon immediately.

"When the proper time comes," Abbott said, "I'll take care of Dwyer."

It was the view of Prosecutor Ingalls that Dwyer may have had guilty knowledge of the slayings.

Boston Bars Barbara Carroll.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Boston licensing board today announced it would revoke the license of any night club, restaurant, or café that engaged Barbara Carroll, daughter of the man convicted in the Littlefield murder in Paris, Me., today, as a public entertainer. Miss Carroll had said she had received offers to appear in a Boston night club.

CORRIGAN EXPLAINS CHEWING GUM FUEL GAUGE ON HIS PLANE

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Doug Corrigan's $900 crate, which was equipped with a Boy Scout compass, a pine board seat, and a baling wire latch for its door, also had a chewing gum gas gauge.

When Corrigan brought the plane down today after its first test since his ocean hop, he brushed four wads of gum from a window.

"What's that?" some one asked. "Well," he said, "on that flignt, whenever a tank ran dry I had to switch to another in a hurry. I had to know, too, how many tanks I had left. So every time a tank ran out I'd stick a wad of gum there. You see, I don't have a gas gauge on this ship."

PATH IS SMOOTH IN KENOSHA FOR LOVE ON RELIEF

Trucks will be sent around to pick up the articles and relief labor will be used to recondition them.

Find Rooms and Tunnels Under Roman Colosseum

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Aug. 12.—Discovery of a series of rooms and tunnels under the centuries old dirt floor of the ancient Colosseum has brought to light another picture of the grandeur of the structure. Excavators uncovered the subterranean passageways while engaged in restoring a large part of the amphitheater, which was completed in 80 A. D. during the two year reign of Titus.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Maxime Boisson ordered 25 pounds of ice today, but received seven tons—by accident. An ice truck collided with a car and careened into Boisson's house, dumping its entire load on the front porch.

Gang Executes Victim as 'L' Muffles Shots

In a dark and desolate section of the west side three efficient gunmen stood a victim against a brick wall last night and executed him. Then, as he lay on the ground, one of the killers shot him in the head.

Joseph La Porte.

The murder took place in the rear of 2539 Van Buren street. The victim was Joseph La Porte, 24 years old, of 1220 Polk street. Police know little about him except that he had a petty police record, was a flashy dresser, and once had political ambitions.

Seventh Recent Gang Murder.

The motive of the killers was a mystery. The murder was the twenty-seventh of all kinds in the Chicago area in the last ten weeks. It was the seventh gangland execution in that time.

La Porte was driven to the execution spot in a black sedan, perhaps his own, by three men. The Garfield Park branch of the "L" lines runs a few feet to the south. The killers doused their lights.

About 200 feet into the alley the gunmen stopped. They pulled La Porte out. He walked with them unprotestingly.

A few feet farther they pushed him against a garage wall. His back was to them. La Porte probably knew what was coming, but still did not cry out. Then he was shot down as an "L" train muffled the shots.

Small Boy Sees Murder.

A small boy was an eyewitness of most of the shooting. He is Edward Davis, 8 years old, 413 South Maplewood avenue. He told the story in an excited voice.

Vincent Bourne and Charles Cook, aeronautical students living at 2539 Van Buren street, also heard the firing. Harold Burke, 322 South Artesian avenue, saw the killers escape.

La Porte was placed on probation in 1931 on an auto theft charge and had been arrested on suspicion once since then.

50,000 CARP ON DIET OF CORN TO FATTEN THEM FOR MARKETS

Fond du Lac, Wis., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The conservation commission has put 50,000 carp on a diet of soaked corn to fatten them up for the eastern market. When the last shipment arrived in New York, dealers complained that the fish were too thin. The carp, ranging from 4 to 35 pounds in weight, were seined from Lake Winnebago to protect game fish and are being kept in land-locked ponds and marshes. They are being fed 1,100 pounds of corn daily.

DOG IS TAKEN FOR 250 MILE RIDE ON ARCTIC ICE CAKE

KOTZEBUE, Alaska, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A shaggy malamute dog's appetite for seal meat took him on a 250 mile ocean cruise on a cake of ice. The story was told today by Father Bernard R. Hubbard, after he and his companions arrived in their big walrus skin canoe from Barrow.

On June 1 the dog went seal hunting with his master, Peter Mayac, on the ice off King Island in the Bering Strait. When Mayac went ashore the dog remained behind to eat seal meat. The ice broke up and the malamute was carried to sea.

"When we were forced ashore at Point Hope this week," Father Hubbard said, "Mayac's dog dashed up to us."

Airliner with 11 Aboard Overdue at Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A Pan-American Airways liner carrying eight passengers and a crew of three was hours overdue tonight. The plane apparently had run into bad weather. The plane was on its way here from Villahermosa, Tabasco state, about 420 miles to the southeast. The plane was last heard from shortly after noon, when it radioed that all was well.

Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—As part of his sentence for stealing and eating an 8 year old pet hen belonging to A. C. Gilbert, Willard Arnett, 20 years old, was ordered today by Judge John Geyer to attend church once a week.

TELL U. S. STONE PURCHASE TO AID FALSE BERRY CLAIM

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Charles G. Mynatt, a TVA investigator in the $5,000,000 Berry marble claims, told a congressional investigating committee today he had been informed that officials high in the TVA were in collusion with Senator George L. Berry [D., Tenn.]. The witness also said he had been told that Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed TVA chairman, once expressed similar suspicions of his TVA associates.

Mynatt named as his informant W. N. Garrett, who was in charge of the investigation of the marble leases bought by Berry and associates. The Berry claims were for marble deposits flooded by the backwaters of Norris dam, near here. A three man federal court commission ruled last winter that the deposits were commercially worthless.

Denies Quoting Morgan.

Immediately after Mynatt's testimony Garrett took the stand and denied that Dr. Morgan had never expressed any such view to him.

Today's developments followed disclosures yesterday that there was evidence of collusion between the Berry interests and officials in Washington to validate the $5,000,000 marble claims.

In his testimony today Mynatt said Garrett told him he had evidence that David E. Lilienthal, TVA director; James Lawrence Fly, TVA general counsel, and Evans Dunn, TVA attorney in charge of the marble claims, were in collusion with the Berry interests.

Mynatt testified that when he was assigned to the marble claim investigating staf, Garrett told him to keep his mouth shut; that the case was dynamite, and that there was something crooked about it.

Tells of Morgan's Plan.

"He [Garrett] was reporting to Arthur Morgan," Mynatt said, "and they had something definite looking to collusion between Berry and Lilienthal. Garrett said he understood Morgan believed there was a frame-up among Lilienthal and Harcourt Morgan [also a TVA director] and Berry.

"Finally it dawned on me what was in Dr. Morgan's mind. I think he wanted to catch Attorney Dunn out on a limb, and it occurred to me that back in his mind he was planning an investigation."

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The marble used as part of the material for a $1,161,000 addition to the federal warehouse here at 7th and D streets S. W. was supplied by Senator George L. Berry [D., Tenn.] and associates. A contract for the marble was awarded by the treasury department in April, 1934, when Maj. Berry was a division administrator of the NRA.

The contract, as drawn in the office of the supervising architect of the treasury department's procurement division, specified brocatelle and imperial black types of marble. This was the kind being offered by the Berry company.

This is the marble deal referred to in a confidential report by Edwin C. Eckel, chief geologist of the Tennessee Valley Authority, which has been presented to the congressional investigating committee at Knoxville, Tenn.

Holdup Attempt Charged.

The report by Eckel, dated Nov. 30, 1934, charged that Senator Berry and his associates attempted to hold up the government with their $5,000,000 marble claims in the flooded Norris dam area. Eckel charged that influence which might have been improper was used to get a government agency to use their marble in a public building at Washington.

The Eckel memorandum said the firm of Ford and Harris had been putting together options and leases in the flooded area for several years. It was said the whole matter had the earmarks of "a subtle attempt to hold up whatever government agency would finally build Norris dam."

The memorandum said Berry, who then held an important position in the NRA, acquired a large interest in the Ford and Harris project and the government, presumably acting through the supervising architect, specified for a government structure in Washington a marble occurring on one of the Ford and Harris leases.

First Use of Such Stone.

"It is the first time this particular stone was ever used or offered for use in any government building," says the report, which alleged that the price paid was twice the cost of Knoxville marble.

In another confidential report, dated Feb. 25, 1935, Eckel told his superiors in the TVA that he had seen the marble in a quarry on one of the Berry claims before it was flooded. "Considering its location and working conditions," Eckel said to his superiors, "I do not feel that it could ever become a commercial operating proposition. Nevertheless, through the exercise of some influence, whether improper or not remains to be determined, stone from this quarry has been shipped to a government job at Washington, D. C. It, therefore, establishes a value for the working which would be hard to meet in any purely legal fashion."

Treasury Figures Given.

Inquiry at the treasury procurement division today disclosed that the contract for the federal warehouse in which the Berry marble was used was awarded to Walter Kiddle Constructors, Inc., 140 Cedar street, New York City.

Officials of the procurement division said they did not know what subcontractor handled the marble work. They said they understood, however, that the marble work including transportation, finishing, and installing the stone, cost about $9,000 and that the stone itself cost only about $2,000.

The use of brocatelle and imperial black marble was specified on the drawings, rather than in the specifications. Under the heading, "Interior Marble," the specifications contained a paragraph saying:

"The naming of marbles or stones on the drawings or in the specifications is for the purpose of indicating the type that is required, but it is not intended to exclude any marbles or stones which, in the opinion of the supervising architect, are so nearly like those scheduled on the drawings or named in the specifications that they will give practically the same effect."

Supervising Architect Silent.

L. A. Simon, the supervising architect, refused to be quoted today concerning the warehouse contract and said that any statement to be made would have to come from W. E. Reynolds, acting director of the procurement division. Reynolds was not available for comment. The director of the procurement division, Rear Admiral Christian J. Peoples, is away from Washington.

Officials of the division said they did not know of any other government buildings in which marble from the Berry deposits was used. They denied knowledge of any improper influence that might have been used in the case of the federal warehouse. They said they know nothing about Eckel's charge that Knoxville marble could have been purchased for half the price.

Yardstick Angle Feared.

Eckel was concerned, back in 1934, lest the purchase of the Berry marble for use in a government building be used as a yardstick in connection with the Berry claims against the TVA. The purchase was important in that respect, not because of its size.

"It is evident that if this procedure continues, very high values can be given to all of the worthless mineral resources of the Norris area," Eckel's report said.

The report also said Eckel twice recommended officially that the Berry case be taken up with President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes with a view to having it investigated by Louis R. Glavis, then chief investigator of the interior department.

Delay in Inquiry Revealed.

Despite this evidence in the files of the TVA as far back as Nov. 30, 1934, Evans Dunn, assistant general counsel of the TVA, told the congressional committee that the authority made no investigation of the bad faith charges until June, 1937. This was after the 1936 presidential election, in which Berry played an important rôle in lining up the labor vote for Mr. Roosevelt.

The evidence has shown also that in July, 1936, more than a year and a half after the first Eckel report, the majority directors of the TVA, David E. Lilienthal and Harcourt A. Morgan, entered into an agreement with Berry and his associates to conciliate their $5,000,000 claim. At that time Berry was President Roosevelt's coördinator for industrial coöperation and was chairman of labor's Nonpartisan league, which was organized in 1936 to line up the labor vote for Mr. Roosevelt.

Factor in Board Split.

It was in the same year that Director Lilienthal was reappointed to the board over the protests of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, then TVA chairman, who had opposed the conciliation deal with Berry and his associates. This led to the open break between Dr. Morgan and the board majority, to the removal of the former by President Roosevelt, and to the present congressional investigation.

Finally, in 1937, the conciliation agreement was dropped, condemnation proceedings were started, and a federal court commission held the Berry claims commercially worthless.

Both Eckel and John I. Snyder, director of the TVA land acquisition division, testified that they believed the chief reason the conciliation agreement was dropped was that Dr. Morgan made his fight against it.

FRAUD CHARGES HIT TVA HEADS IN MARBLE CASE

tion and dissension among high officials in the TVA.

Garrett, who in the early days of TVA was chief appraiser of the Norris dam area, said TVA Lawyer Dunn decided to try the Berry marble case on the issue of value alone, without going into the phase of possible fraud against the government.

Rumors of Bad Faith.

The witness said he had heard rumors of bad faith in the Berry leases as early as 1934. As an administrative assistant in the TVA land acquisition department, he said, he would have been in a position to start an investigation if the case had followed the regular procedure. Instead, he asserted, it was transferred to the TVA legal department. As it was, he said, he waited until the legal department gave him the word to go ahead. That was on Sept. 14, 1937.

"Even then," Garrett testified, "Dunn thought the case should be tried on the issue of value alone, that evidence of bad faith had no place in the case, and there was no use to look for it because he didn't think we could find it."

"Did Mr. Dunn try to discourage you from getting evidence of bad faith?" he was asked.

"He didn't tell me not to get the evidence," Garrett replied. "He said several times he didn't think that evidence of bad faith had any place in the case."

Attorney Changes Mind.

In a conference later, Garrett testified, he told Dunn that he believed evidence of bad faith could be found and Dunn then said: "Go into it and get all you can."

"After we found the evidence of bad faith," the witness continued, "Dunn told us to use it. When the case was tried there was no difference between us. We were all trying to win the lawsuit."

Francis Biddle, committee counsel, read into the records, at the request of Dr. Morgan, an item from the TVA board minutes of Dec. 22, 1937. It was a motion from Lilienthal asking the general counsel to prepare a legal opinion on proper steps to be taken in enforcing the penalty section of the TVA act. It was indicated this had to do with possible criminal action against the Berry marble claimants.

The motion was passed two days after Dr. Morgan had taken the stand—voluntarily and against the wishes of TVA lawyers—before the three man commission hearing the marble case.

Will Sift TVA Accounts.

Senator Vic Donahey [D., O.], chairman of the committee, late today departed for Washington to confer with President Roosevelt on plans for strengthening the investigation.

The senator is expected to inform the President of his plan to appoint W. O. Heffernan of Ripley, O., now secretary of the committee, as auditor in charge. He also will take up the possibility of more funds to conduct a thorough audit of TVA accounts. An appropriation of $50,000 to conduct the entire investigation has been found too small.

Heffernan was state budget commissioner of Ohio in 1913 and 1914 in Gov. James M. Cox's administration, when Donahey was state auditor. Heffernan instituted Ohio's first executive audit. He formerly was assistant to W. C. Durant of the General Motors corporation, assistant to John H. Patterson of the National Cash Register company, and vice president of the Liberty National Bank and Trust Company of New York.

FATHER SPANKS DAUGHTER, 17; IT COSTS HIM $47.97

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 12.—(AP)—It cost Earl McCutcheon, Mulmur township farmer, $47.97 to give his daughter, Irene, 17 years old, the first spanking of her life. He was fined that sum today when his wife had him brought into court on an assault charge.

McCutcheon said his daughter had been disobedient in refusing to accompany him to a party. The girl sobbed as she told Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe: "My mother was sick and couldn't go. I said I didn't want to leave her alone."

The magistrate held that McCutcheon used "too much strength" and had "little provocation" in spanking the girl.

The Alfred Irenee du Pont tomb at Wilmington, Del.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—A 210 foot carillon tower, now nearing completion, will hold the body of Alfred Irenee du Pont and perhaps that of his faithful mongrel dog, Yip. The industrialist, who died in Florida in 1935, now lies in a secluded spot on his old estate, the dog beside him. His widow has not yet decided whether to move the dog to the new tomb, which cost $400,000.

GEORGE IS TRUE DEMOCRAT, SAYS SENATOR CLARK

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Commenting on President Roosevelt's espousal of Lawrence S. Camp for the Democratic nomination for Georgia's United States senator over Senator Walter F. George, Senator Bennet Champ Clark of Missouri declared:

"Nothing could be further from my intentions than to attempt to intervene in any state except Missouri. However, I think I share the view of every other member of the United States senate that Senator Walter F. George is one of the ablest, finest, and best members of the senate and one of the truest Democrats of our generation."

REVOLT FLARES OVER ROOSEVELT SHOT AT GEORGE

to read Senator George out of the party was astonishing because all reports indicate he is running far ahead at the present time. The prevailing opinion was the President's speech would react in Senator George's favor.

Immediately the speech raised the issue of "carpetbagging" and the Georgia newspapers almost universally condemned the effort to dictate the choice of a United States senator.

Representative J. William Ditter [R., Pa.], vice chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, said the President's "march through Georgia" discloses the whole design for dictatorship."

Record Illuminates Demands.

"Unable to accomplish one man government, even with a rubber stamp congress for five years, Mr. Roosevelt now presumes to tell the people of the states for whom they shall vote," said Mr. Ditter. "All our history does not reveal a more audacious affront to the fundamental principles of balanced representative government."

Senator George's record throws light on the President's demands in the matter of what constitutes a good Democrat. George, 60 years old, is the son of a tenant farmer, and a Baptist. His hair and eyes are gray, his shoulders broad and his carriage assured. He is polished and speaks quietly. He likes to fish and hunt. George had been a member of the senate for eleven years when the Roosevelt administration took office. His service in the senate had been preceded by a distinguished career as a judge of the Circuit Court of Appeals and an associate justice of the Supreme court of Georgia. Senator George's action on the chief measures subsequently sponsored by President Roosevelt follows:

Voted for Gold Act.

He voted for the emergency banking act, with the aid of which the President resolved the financial crisis of 1933. He voted for NRA. He voted for AAA. He voted for TVA. He voted for the President's first relief bill. He supported the President's plan to abrogate the gold clause. He supported the President's first [and last] great economy drive, and voted for the short lived economy act of 1933.

There was no major issue at stake in this first session of the first New Deal congress on which Senator George failed to give his support to the administration.

In 1934 George voted for the gold reserve act which gave the President the enormous and wholly personal power of control which he still has over the currency of the United States. He voted for the administration's silver bill. He voted for its naval building bill. He voted for its emergency air mail bill.

He voted for the Bankhead cotton act, which established for the first time the principle of compulsory crop control. He voted for the act under which SEC now regulates the stock exchanges of the country. He voted for the reciprocal tarif act, under which Secretary Hull is now negotiating his trade treaties.

He failed to follow the administration only when, in company with a large number of other Democrats he voted to override the President's veto of the Independent offices bill and to reject the St. Lawrence treaty.

The next year, 1935, George voted for the Wagner labor relations act. He also voted for the social security act. He voted for the tax-the wealth bill. He voted for the work relief bill. He voted for the amendments consolidating the authority of TVA. He voted for ratification of the world court protocol. He differed with the administration only on the public utility holding company act and the Guffey-Snyder coal bill.

George voted in 1936 for the new soil conservation act which the administration brought forward as a substitute for AAA. He supported the Administration's commodity exchange bill, its plans for a Florida ship canal, its project for Passamaquoddy bay, its new relief appropriations, its refusal to turn the administration of relief funds over to the states.

He voted against the Wagner housing bill which failed of adoption at this session, and with a large majority of his fellow Democrats to override the President's veto of the soldiers' bonus bill.

Against Court Packing.

During 1937 George supported the President's recommendation for an extension of the reciprocal tarif act and continuation of the lending powers of RFC. He voted to give TVA money with which to build its dam at Gilbertsville.

He voted again against the housing bill, against the wage-hour bill, and in company with many of his Democratic colleagues against the President's Supreme court plan.

In the current session of congress George voted for the President's new naval construction bill, for his new pump priming plan, for his new farm plan, and for the new taxes which he recommended for the purpose of raising money for the payment of farm bounties. He opposed the reorganization bill.

Dixie Papers' Reaction to Purge

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's attack on Senator Walter F. George of Georgia stirred widespread editorial comment today. Following are expressions from twelve papers in the south:

ATLANTA [GA.] JOURNAL [Dem.]—Great is the President's prestige, and great the admiration in which Georgians hold him. But assuredly he cannot do their thinking for them. . . . In our judgment the renomination and reëlection of Senator George will serve the best interests of Georgia.

ATLANTA [GA.] CONSTITUTION [Dem.]—His attack on Senator George was greeted by both cheers and boos. He would turn the United States senate into a gathering of 96 Charlie McCarthys with himself as the sole Edgar Bergen to pull the strings and supply the vocalisms.

AUGUSTA [GA.] CHRONICLE [Dem.]—If the citizens of Georgia do what President Roosevelt so pointedly told us that he desired we do, the south must bury its cherished traditions, forget its political independence as a thing dead, and reconcile itself to complete dictation from the chief executive.

CHARLOTTE [N. C.] NEWS [Dem.]—Probably no President ever went farther out on a limb than did President Roosevelt yesterday. The thing is, in its practical aspect, a desperate and precarious gamble. . . . If the President wins, it will be a famous victory . . . but the chance is more than even that he won't win.

LYNCHBURG [VA.] DAILY ADVANCE [Independent Democrat paper owned by U. S. Senator Carter Glass]—The whole matter boils down to this simple question: Are the people of the 48 sovereign states to select their representatives in congress or is the President of the United States to perform that duty for them and thereby become a national dictator?

NASHVILLE [TENN.] BANNER [Dem.]—In above terms ["I accept the challenge"], as direct as could be employed, did United States Senator Walter F. George . . . notify the power drunk chief executive . . . that his smiles had not been able to seduce him from the path of duty to conscience and country, so his frowns could neither alarm nor intimidate.

NEW ORLEANS [LA.] STATES [Dem.]—Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President of the United States, elected by all of the people of this nation, today takes up a march to the sea where Sherman left off and goes marching through Georgia, telling the people of a sovereign state that they must nominate a candidate he picks. . . . What right has Mr. Roosevelt to dictate to the people of a sovereign state how they shall vote?

RICHMOND [VA.] TIMES DISPATCH [Dem.]—Mr. Roosevelt is now out on a limb. . . . He has gone there deliberately . . . to show that the southern masses are pro-New Deal, despite the anti-New Deal attitude of many of their representatives in congress. . . . Our guess is that . . . Mr. Roosevelt's diagnosis of the situation is correct, and that Camp will win the three-cornered contest.

SAVANNAH [GA.] EVENING PRESS [Dem.]—Georgians hate a dictatorship. . . . We know of no period in its history when it is more determined to emphasize this independence than it is during the present crisis that confronts it.

BRUNSWICK [GA.] NEWS [Dem.]—If Georgia's senior senator was a nonentity in governmental affairs at the national capital Mr. Roosevelt would never have used the language that he did yesterday in an effort to bring about his defeat. . . . President Roosevelt is fearful of the man's ability.

AUGUSTA [GA.] HERALD [Dem.]—It is about time to face the facts. George would be sufficiently progressive to meet the President's views were it not for the fact that the senator aroused the President's ire when he declared that Roosevelt had betrayed the Democratic party in advocating a new Supreme court setup.

VALDOSTA [GA.] TIMES [Dem.]—We are strongly of the opinion that Roosevelt's entry into the Georgia senatorial campaign is a mistake. . . . We do not believe that Georgians will relish the idea of a President of the United States, even though he be President Roosevelt, who is greatly loved here, telling them how to vote.

U. S. ADDS NEARLY $2,000,000 FOR WORK AT AIRPORT

The approval by Washington authorities of a supplemental allowance of $1,883,994 for the completion of the Chicago airport was announced last night by H. K. Seltzer, Chicago WPA director. In addition he revealed that the city of Chicago has provided $48,657 for skilled labor.

As a result, Mr. Seltzer predicted, the work will be completed by Jan. 1, 1939, excepting for that area now covered by the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks. He added that the entire job will be completed much sooner if the tracks are removed within a reasonable time.

The proposed ordinance for the removal of the tracks will be drawn next week. Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph Grossman will confer with railroad officials. The removal is expected to be completed by next July. This will double the size of the airport.

Find Beggar Woman Has $2,893 Hidden in Dress

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 12.—(AP)—For many days a woman in a tattered brown sweater and billowy black skirt has stood on a busy downtown street corner begging for small coins. Today a policeman took her to a police station where a matron found $2,893 in her clothing. In her clenched fist there was 36 cents.

HURT IN FALL FROM PORCH.

Benjamin Morgan, 7 years old, 2718 Monroe street, was seriously hurt last night when he fell from a porch in the rear of 2750 Monroe street. His head struck the concrete areaway. He was taken to Bethany hospital.

PRESIDENT BACK; GETS REPORT ON NEEDS OF SOUTH

Returns to White House After Long Trip.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt returned today to the White House after an absence of more than a month. His first act was to study what he considers the nation's No. 1 economic problem—the needs of the south.

The President ordered the study made by the National Emergency council shortly before he set out July 7 on the political-fishing tour which carried him across the country to the west coast and back through the Panama canal to Pensacola, Fla. There he dropped his fishing rods for political cudgels on his return to the capital through Georgia and South Carolina.

A sixty page report of the needs and problems of the south was on the President's desk when he returned to the White House shortly after 11 o'clock this morning.

Prepared by Southerners.

The report was wholly the work of southerners employed in various government departments.

No direct recommendations were advanced for solution of the south's problems.

In general the report found that the south is behind other sections of the country in everything but the birth rate. It asserted that the south has great potentialities for exploitation of natural resources and industrial possibilities and a crying need for improvement of living conditions.

After glancing through the report the President picked up the reins of government where he dropped them before he began his 14,000 mile journey. Within an hour of his arrival he arranged for a cabinet meeting and four conferences.

His callers in order of appearance in his office were Undersecretary of State Welles, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the senate finance committee, and Secretary of State Hull.

Asks for Road Funds.

Harrison said he came to seek speeding up of action on a 26 million dollar PWA grant for Mississippi road improvements.

Secretary Hull came to lunch to report on international developments during the President's absence. The luncheon conference blended into the cabinet meeting.

"I told him [the President] that the business situation was encouraging and in fact improving," said Secretary Roper.

Farm Prices Discussed.

Secretary of Labor Perkins said the meeting was in the nature of a general survey of the economic situation, since the cabinet last talked about it more than a month ago.

In reply to inquiries, Secretary Perkins said that farm prices had been discussed incidentally as well as other things that enter into the general economic picture.

Mr. Roosevelt will remain in town for six days. He plans to leave Monday night for Kingston, Ont., where he will dedicate an international bridge between the United States and Canada. From Kingston he will go to his family home at Hyde Park.

Sue Sewer Builder, City; Charge Property Damage

Two suits seeking damages of $238,000 from the S. A. Healy contracting company, the sanitary district, and the city were filed in the Superior court yesterday. The plaintifs are sixty-seven property owners. They allege their properties were damaged from the settling of the earth during construction of the southwest side intercepting sewer. The properties are located from 31st to 35th streets, and from Throop to May streets.

CHICAGO RALLY OF ANTI-SEMITIC BAND DESCRIBED

Members Are Urged to Arm, Committee Told.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The house committee investigating un-American activities in the United States heard today of recent moves by the German-American bund and the Silver Shirts, an anti-Semitic organization. The committee is headed by Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.].

An investigator testified that he attended a Silver Shirts' meeting last Saturday night in Chicago, during which the leader, William Zachary, urged his members to arm themselves in preparation for a coming communist revolution in America.

Investigator Describes Speech.

According to John J. Metcalfe, a former newspaper reporter and now an investigator for the committee, Zachary told his audience:

"I want you to get guns and plenty of ammunition. I want you to be prepared for the coming Communist revolt. We will stop Communism by force. The Silver Shirts and other organizations will move forward in force and will smash the Communists.

"I predict that within three years the streets of Chicago will be filled with Silver Shirts. We are not associated with the American Nazis. We are a 100 per cent American organization. We don't want any dictatorship, least of all any Communism."

Tells of Joining Bund.

Metcalfe, who was born in Germany but was naturalized in 1930, also told of joining the German-American bund and becoming a lieutenant of Fritz Kuhn, national bund leader.

He quoted Kuhn as saying he had brought about the removal of Dr. Hans Luther, for many years German ambassador to the United States, because he failed to coöperate in bund activities.

"I have secret relations with Germany whereby I can get anything I want," Kuhn was quoted by Metcalfe.

The investigator also declared that when the investigating committee was appointed Kuhn ordered all bunds to destroy any suspicious correspondence.

Ex-Leader Testifies.

Peter Gissibl, former head of the Chicago bund, who said he had resigned after differences with Kuhn, bore out this point. Gissibl said he had opposed Kuhn on hatred of Jews, advocating uniforms for children in the fashion of the Hitler Youth Movement, and a close relationship between the bund and Nazi Germany.

Metcalfe told the committee that at one time an entire company of the Illinois National Guard were members of the bund. He believed, he added, that there are half a million Nazi sympathizers in the United States.

Frank Davin, who said he was a public relations counsel in Chicago, testified that he had been offered a job promoting better relations between America and Nazi Germany. He linked Gustave A. Brand, city treasurer of Chicago, with this offer, saying Brand had said he would use his influence to help him get the job.

FALSE, SAYS BRAND.

City Treasurer Gustave A. Brand last night declared that testimony given before the Dies congressional committee in Washington yesterday intimating he was a Nazi sympathizer was "a lie from start to finish." The treasurer declared he had never met Frank Davin. "I have never seen him to my knowledge," Mr. Brand said.

Small Hurricane Heads Northwest from Cuba

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 12.—(AP)—A small but very dangerous hurricane roared through the Caribbean Sea off the western tip of Cuba tonight. The weather bureau said the storm apparently was heading for the Yucatan channel and the open waters of the Gulf of Mexico. It was moving west, northwest, at 18 to 20 miles an hour. Ships in the path of the disturbance were warned that hurricane winds [75 miles an hour and above] prevailed near the center.

SAILORS AND MARINES PARADE FOR CHIEF AT GREAT LAKES STATION

Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, inspected the Great Lakes Naval Training station yesterday. He reviewed 1,200 sailors and marines and said he was well pleased with the administration of the 9th naval district. His host during the day was Rear Admiral Hayne T. Ellis, commandant of Great Lakes and of the district.

Admiral Leahy arrived from Washington at 9 a. m. and was taken first on a visit to the naval reserve aviation base at Curtis airport, then to the training station. The officers of the command were presented to him prior to a luncheon tendered by Admiral Ellis.

During the early afternoon Admiral Leahy inspected the station and then reviewed 700 naval recruits and 450 marine reserves who have been in training since Aug. 1.

OIL MAGNATE'S WIDOW IS FOUND DEAD ON FLOOR

Maid Discovers Body Clad in Negligee.

Mrs. Katherine Miskell, wealthy widow of an Oklahoma oil magnate, was found dead yesterday in her suite at the Whitehall apartments, 105 East Delaware place. A coroner's inquest will be held this morning to determine the cause of death.

Mrs. Miskell, 51 years old, was the widow of Patrick M. Miskell of Tulsa. Mr. Miskell was considered one of the wealthiest mid-continent oil men. He was formerly head of the Cities Service Oil company, vice president of the Cities Service corporation, and president of the Western Petroleum Refiners' association. He died Dec. 25, 1935.

Spends Years in Travel.

Mr. Miskell left a large fortune to his wife, who spent recent years in travel here and abroad. Since the death of her husband, relatives said, her health had been failing.

Mrs. Miskell had lived at the Whitehall apartments since the first of the year with Miss Moina Smith, 23, who had been her companion for seventeen months. Miss Smith was a nurse in a South Carolina sanitarium when she met Mrs. Miskell.

At 2 p. m. yesterday Miss Smith left the apartment. She said Mrs. Miskell was in good spirits at the time. Fifteen minutes later a maid found Mrs. Miskell's body on the floor, clad in a negligee.

Sleeping Powders on Table.

Sergt. Phil Shore of the Chicago avenue police found on a table two boxes containing sleeping powders, which Mrs. Miskell had taken for some time. Nearby on another table lay her will.

It was executed last May, according to her attorney, William L. Kelly. Mrs. Miskell left the bulk of her estate to her only brother, Dr. Kyle W. Miller of Barnesville, O., after a few minor bequests. One of these was $5,000 to Miss Smith.

Attorney Kelley said that recently Mrs. Miskell turned over all of her property to the First National bank to administer it as trustee. In a suitcase in her bedroom police found bundles of stocks, trust receipts, other securities, and uncashed dividend checks.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Clarence A. A rubber hose connected to the exhaust pipe ran in through the car window.

Race to Remarry

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Humphrey Bogart, who plays bad man and officer of the law rôles in the films, was beaten to the altar today in a matrimonial race with his ex-wife, Mary Philips Bogart.

While she was being married in Greenwich, Conn., Bogart filed a notice here of intention to wed Mayo Jane Methot, actress. They set the wedding date for Aug. 20.

Miss Philips was married to Leo Mielziner, author and actor, one of Kay Francis' former husbands. He is known in the theatrical world as Kenneth MacKenna.

Bogart gave his age as 37, and Miss Methot, who was granted a divorce from Percy T. Morgan a year ago last February, said she is 31.

WPA GETS READY FOR ELECTION BOOST IN ROLLS

Resume Emergency Plan on Applications.

Preliminary orders for the large increase in Chicago's WPA rolls, expected some time before the November elections, were issued yesterday. They described the methods by which relief authorities may approve able bodied men, not on relief, for WPA jobs.

Before last Jan. 7 a man had to be on relief for thirty days before the Chicago Relief administration [CRA] could approve him as eligible for a WPA job. In this period, relief authorities said, the man's need and eligibility for relief were thoroughly investigated. The relief requirement blocked men who were not in actual need from applying for WPA jobs.

Remove Thirty Day Restriction.

The thirty day relief restriction was removed Jan. 7. It was inoperative until five days before the April primary elections. In that period an estimated 40,000 men were hastily thrown into WPA jobs. CRA officials admitted their inability to investigate the needs and eligibility of these voters.

WPA does not investigate the needs of its pay rollers. It merely assigns to jobs those whose eligibility has been approved.

On July 5 Leo M. Lyons, CRA commissioner, who was reported to have been acting under pressure from the WPA authorities, again dropped the thirty day requirement. He returned to the emergency method of approving seekers after WPA jobs. Thousands of applicants swamped the CRA and Illinois Emergency Relief commission offices.

Lyons again stopped the emergency system on July 30. At that time 21,000 applicants were approved but unassigned to WPA jobs. In addition there were 13,000 applicants who had not been interviewed. Lyons estimated that this would result in a total pool of 30,000 persons eligible for WPA and forming a waiting list.

Reasons for Action.

Lyons indicated that he stopped the emergency system because it was costing the CRA money to approve people for jobs that apparently didn't exist. There were 114,099 WPA jobholders in Chicago on Aug. 3. Paul Kerschbaum, state WPA statistician, said the top number that could be employed in Chicago during August would be 116,550 persons.

Despite this limit and the huge pool of unassigned persons, Lyons issued orders yesterday that the emergency system of approval be reinstituted Monday. All applications will be taken at the new CRA central intake office 10 East 11th street.

Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator, said early this summer he was anxious to build up a large list of approved but unassigned applicants for WPA jobs in Illinois.

FRANCE ALARMED BY GERMANY'S HUGE WAR GAMES

Orders Envoys to Report on Hitler's Plans.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The French government, alarmed by reports of huge military movements under way in Germany, today asked French diplomatic representatives abroad for information on Reichsfuehrer Hitler's intentions.

The reports which worried Paris were:

That Hitler's army had requisitioned private automobiles, trucks, furniture vans and even municipal buses in Bavaria in connection with the forthcoming fall maneuvers. That more than 1,000,000 German reservists had been called to the colors. That Germany was speeding up the fortification of its French and Polish frontiers.

Newspapers of both London and Paris reported that 1,300,000 German reservists had been called to the colors for instruction with the standing army. An authorized French source said this estimate was exaggerated. This source admitted, however the foreign office had information that "important maneuvers will be held in Germany."

[Previous reports indicated the fall maneuvers would call 500,000 reservists to the colors. These, with the standing army estimated at 1,000,000 men, would make an armed force of 1,500,000 men during the maneuvers.]

Viewed as Intimidation Threat.

Foreign office circles and most diplomats said they believed the maneuvers were designed to "intimidate" Czechoslovakia, France, and Britain. They watched carefully, however, the advices from French diplomatic and secret agents in Germany.

Two possible explanations of the German activities were offered in Paris:

SECOND—They wish to have their war machine ready for use in case of trouble over the German minority's demand for autonomy in Czechoslovakia.

Albert Sarraut, French minister of the interior, said he was reënforcing the French counterspying service to deal with an increasing number of spy cases, especially in the German frontier region where France's Maginot line of forts lies.

German workmen in Metz, near the frontier, said German authorities had forbidden them to cross into France to work in coal mines. They have done so freely in the past. Several hundred of them today were allowed to cross the border for the last time and settle their affairs on the French side.

Terminates Daily Contacts.

This terminates daily contacts between French and German workmen at a time when Germany is hastening the fortification of its side of the boundary.

Britain was regarded as a principal actor in the situation because it has sent Viscount Runciman to Czechoslovakia as an unofficial mediator of the quarrel between the Czech government and the German minority which Reichsfuehrer Hitler has vowed to "protect."

Hitler has given stanch backing to Konrad Henlein, Nazi leader of the Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia, in his demands for self-government.

Army to Be on War Basis.

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Top speed preparations for nation-wide military maneuvers are increasing Germany's armed forces to a new wartime basis.

The regular army, already capable of action over night without a mobilization, will take the field next month with the new divisions of reserves. It will be the first such joint training since the world war.

The reserves have been ordered to report next Monday. Military experts said these troops will be drawn from the classes of 1934, 1935, and 1936, and classes released last fall after serving in the army.

The two weeks following next Monday, it is believed in military circles, will be devoted to organization of the reserves into units and fundamental training.

As the tempo of the preparations increased, the German people were becoming worried, fearing more than military maneuvers.

Citizens in Bavaria, Saxony, and Silesia, particularly, were upset because of their proximity to Czechoslovakia. Meanwhile, across the border, Czechoslovak citizens were worried also. Responsible Czech quarters said, however, that without doubt Czechoslovakia had taken measures to meet any possible surprise.

RING IS CLEW IN STRANGE DEATH OF 3 CHILDREN

Pittsfield, Ill., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—A red celluloid ring, soiled and cracked, was looked upon by coroner's officials tonight as a possible clew that might explain the strange deaths of the three Petri children last May 9.

The three, Emma, 10 years old; Henry, 8, and Alberta, 5, were found dead in an ice box in the farm home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Petri. It was assumed they crowded into the refrigerator while playing, accidentally locked themselves in, and were suffocated.

Coroner Roy J. Conboy said tonight he is not convinced that the deaths were accidental. He pointed to the little red ring. Emma was wearing it the morning of the tragedy. The ring was not on her finger, however, when her body was found. The ring was found last week in a bedroom by Mrs. Petri, who said she could not understand how the ring could have lain there very long without her seeing it.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming, 596 Oak street, Winnetka, daughter of Benjamin H. Marshall, architect, won a default divorce yesterday from Richard Hill Fleming. She charged desertion.

The Flemings' marriage on Oct. 20, 1926, was a social event on the north shore. Mrs. Fleming testified before Judge Charles A. Williams that her husband left her on June 1, 1936.

She was awarded custody of their daughter, Elizabeth, 10 years old. She will receive $150 a month support for the child and title to property in Lake county.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Old Spanish Days, at its climax of four days of merry making, had unrolled 400 years of this city's colorful history today.

In crimson, gold, blue, and green, episodes from the days of the earliest Indians to the end of the age of the dons moved down historic State street while 100,000 spectators looked on and cheered.

Will Rogers, the embodiment of California wholesomeness, was there in spirit. Soapsuds, his cow pony, came down the street with the silver decorated blue bloods from a hundred different ranches. Mrs. James Rogers, bride of one of Will's polo playing sons, rode the 12 year old strawberry roan, Rogers' favorite horse.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam, United States Senator William C. McAdoo and that dare devil of all fiestas, Actor Leo Carrillo, cavorted by on skittish horses from the plains and the mountain valleys.

SUBWAY BOARD TOURS PART OF ELEVATED LINES

The federal board of engineers studying Chicago's subway proposal toured three of the four divisions of the elevated railways yesterday. The board, named by Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes, is to report on the plan to build three downtown subways. The board's findings will determine if the city is to get a federal grant for 45 per cent of the cost of the project.

The engineers began their survey Monday. They conferred during the week with city traction engineers and officials of the elevated and surface lines, the Chicago regional planning association, and the Chicago plan commission. The members of the board are Col. Henry M. Waite of Cincinnati, Johsua D'Esposito, Chicago, and Henry M. Brinckerhoff and Robert Ridgway of New York. They are to make their report by Sept. 30.

BERLIN ANGERED BY CZECH ARMY OFFICERS' THRUST

Demand No Retreat on Sudeten Autonomy.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—A proclamation issued in Prague today by the Society of Czechoslovak Army Officers calling upon the public to "fulfill the will of Thomas Masaryk, first president of the Czechoslovakia republic and not retreat one step," caused a furore in Berlin.

Attacks Czech Generals.

It attacked the Czech generals, Krejcy and Syrovy, who "owing to their close relations with President Masaryk could dare order a mobilization in May over the heads of the Prague government."

Declaring that "all this happens under the auspices of Viscount Runciman's action of mediation," the paper asked: "Does one want to provoke new incidents and thus provide an occasion for proving one's courage expressed in such strong words in the proclamation?"

Prague Régime Cautious.

Meanwhile in Prague, the government requested the newspapers not to print the declaration, which had been regarded as a warning to the Sudeten German party, on the grounds it was a "spontaneous act fo which government approval had not been secured."

The manifesto said the integrity of the republic must remain unimpaired in settlement of the problem of the Czech autonomy demanding Sudeten German minority. "The state's authority," it said, "may, under no circumstances be curtailed, undermined, or debated, not by a single act, not through a single word."

Viscount Runciman today conferred with Karl Hermann Frank, a Sudeten German leader and received a deputation from the Hungarian minority. He also conferred with German Social Democrats who informed Runciman that coöperation between Czechs and Germans, in their view, "was quite possible on a Democratic basis."

New Czech Protest Made.

Miroslav Schubert, Czech charge d'affaires, called at the foreign office today to protest the flying of a German military airplane over the Bohemian forest yesterday. The foreign office issued a partial reply to yesterday's Czech protest against the violations of the Czech border.

The reply reclared the German military training plane, which landed on Czech soil in Reichenberg, was piloted by a Bulgarian cadet studying in the German army. This is the first time the German public has been told that Bulgarian flyers are being trained by the German army.

BOY, 7, ON WPA PAY LIST; HIS FATHER AROUSED

Smithfield, Pa., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Arthur Malone, father of a boy, 7 years old, hired and fired by WPA, was indignant today over the clerical error which he said caused the son, Richard, to be mailed a $6.54 WPA check.

Lyell L. Buttermore, WPA director in the three southwestern Pennsylvania counties, said the boy had been assigned to a job through error. State WPA headquarters in Harrisburg declared two timekeepers had been suspended after investigation turned up evidence of collusion.

Malone said he returned the money to the WPA office.

"Now we're off relief," he said.

New Clash at Border

Sakhalin Island, off the coast of Siberia, was the scene yesterday of a new Russian-Japanese border incident. Japan owns the southern portion of the island, Russia the northern portion. Two Japanese police were wounded by soviet secret police near the frontier between the two areas (see arrow).

TOKIO, Aug. 13 [Saturday].—(AP)—Tension between soviet Russia and Japan increased today with a new border incident born within 48 hours after settlement of the Changkufeng dispute.

The new trouble broke out on Sakhalin Island, north of Japan. Moscow controls the northern three-fifths of this island, Japan the southern two-fifths. At an isolated corner of the boundary between these areas infantrymen of the soviet secret police shot and wounded two Japanese policemen, the Domei [Japanese news agency] reported.

The police were escorting a Japanese "inspection party" headed by Ryukichi Tashirogi, a member of the Japanese parliament.

Meanwhile, the incident at Changkufeng on the mainland near the junction of the borders of Siberia, Corea, and Manchukuo was considered closed. Fighting had stopped in accordance with a truce arranged in Moscow by Russian and Japanese diplomats.

The bride, who is 19 years old, was dressed for her wedding in a white satin hand embroidered gown and a white puff sleeved bed jacket with gardenias. After the ceremony Hilgert remained with his bride as long as the nurses permitted.

A special election will be held next Friday by local 191 of the painters' union to elect a successor to James G. Dungan, slain business agent. Dungan was assassinated Monday night in front of his home at 3116 Lowe avenue.

The special election was ordered at a meeting of the union at 5444 Wentworth avenue last night. Dungan's death was briefly mentioned. Half a dozen uniformed policemen stood outside the hall. The meeting was noicy, but without disturbance.

Earlier in the day Supervising Captain John Stege questioned Edward Eastman of Des Plaines, a member of the union, and Edward Loftus, a trustee. Both had seen Dungan the day he was slain. Eastman was with him an hour before he was killed. Capt. Stege said neither was able to give any clews.

Funeral services for Dungan were in St. David's church, 32d street and Emerald avenue, with burial in St. Casimir's cemetery.

U. S. Mission Property Hit by Explosions.

HANKOW, China, Aug. 12.—(AP)—One hundred Japanese war planes virtually poured bombs into Hankow and the neighboring cities of Wuchang and Hanyang today. It was one of the most disastrous and spectacular air raids of the Chinese-Japanese war.

The bombs and the flames which they started killed or wounded 400 civilians of the Tri-City area, which lies 600 miles up the Yangtze river in the heart of China.

[Other dispatches said official estimates placed the dead at 500 and the injured at 200. In Shanghai a Japanese naval communique announced that the headquarters of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese commander-in-chief, was destroyed.]

U. S. Mission Property Hit.

Direct hits were made on two American mission properties. More than 300 residents, most of them humble, were destroyed. Tens of thousands of dollars worth of railway equipment, crude oil, and kerosene were blown up.

In Wuchang the chapel of the Order of Saint Anne convent, operated by a mission of the American Episcopal church, was demolished by a direct hit. Another bomb tore down a nearby sisters' residence in which three American women missionaries, huddled under a staircase, escaped without a scratch.

A bomb destroyed the American Seventh Day Adventists' city clinic in Wuchang, killing twelve Chinese patients. Many wounded had just been removed when the clinic was struck.

Bombs released over the Canton-Hankow railway terminal blew up enitre sections of track and killed most of a group of girl refugees in a nearby building.

BABY COLAN'S EYE BETTER; INFANT RETURNED HOME

Baby Helaine Judith Colan need not undergo an operation to save her life and the sight of her right eye. This was decided yesterday at the New York Academy of Medicine The infant, 4 months old, was returned to Chicago last night by airplane with her mother, Mrs. Herman Colan, and her grandmother, Mrs. Morris Hershman.

The baby's left eye was removed here on May 9 after it was found to be afflicted with glioma of the retina, a cancerous growth. Last Tuesday the child was flown to New York to determine if the growth had affected the right eye.

Dr. Algernon B. Reese, eye specialist, examined the child. The academy then issued a statement that the tumor is regressing in the right eye and no operation is indicated. Radium treatments, however, will be continued at Mercy hospital here. The Colan home is at 549 Brompton place.

WED FIVE YEARS, THEN TOLD SHE'S BIGAMOUS WIFE

Forced On by Threats, Says Mrs. Brainard.

Mrs. Laura Brainard was married to Charles Brainard for five years before she learned he had another wife. By the time she found it out she had borne Brainard two daughters, and he threatened to kill her and the children if she left him.

Mrs. Brainard, who lives at 605 Ashland avenue, River Forest, told this story yesterday before Master in Chancery John Sbarbaro of the Circuit court in his office at 10 South La Salle street. She is seeking, on behalf of her children, two-thirds of the $100,000 estate left by Brainard, a construction engineer. He was killed accidentally March 8, 1937, while installing mine machinery. He had made no will.

Tells of Wedding.

Questioned by her attorney, Lloyd Moody, Laura Brainard told of meeting Brainard in 1927. On July 18, 1929, they were married in St. Charles. The ceremony was performed by a man introduced to her by Brainard as a minister. In October, 1929, Laura and her husband went to live in River Forest, she said, and lived together until his death.

Q. [By Attorney Moody]—When you were married did you know there was another Mrs. Brainard? A. [By Laura Brainard]—No.

Q.—When did you find out? A.—It was accidental. In August, 1934, five years after my marriage—a decorator was doing some work at our home. He told me there was another Mrs. Brainard—Gertrude Brainard—living at 334 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park. I went there and a woman came to the door. She acted oddly and I went away. I asked my husband about it. He said: "I have tried to tell you about this but I knew you would hate me. I married another woman in 1900, but she became insane shortly after."

Bare Murder Threat.

Q.—Why did you continue to live with Brainard after you learned of the other wife? A.—We had two children, Charlotte Henrietta, now 8 years old, and Patricia, 6. My husband said he would kill me and the children if I left.

Q.—Did your husband ever spend any length of time with Gertrude Brainard while you were married to him? A.—No.

Q.—Did you ever meet her after that? A.—Yes, several times in her home at 428 Rex avenue, Elmhurst. I called her "Gertie." Mr. Brainard was with me at these times.

Brainard's first wife and six of his sisters and brothers are contesting Laura Brainard's claim to two-thirds of the estate. Gertrude Brainard recently was declared incompetent in the Du Page county Probate court. She has an appeal pending from this ruling.

Attentiveness Is Told.

At previous hearings witnesses for Gertrude Brainard and the brothers and sisters have testified that Brainard was still attentive to his first wife after he married the second. Records were introduced seeking to show that Brainard bought groceries for Gertrude Brainard shortly before his death.

The case before Master Sbarbaro involves determination of the title to the River Forest home where Laura is living. The decision, however, is expected to govern the Probate court ruling on the legal heirs to all of Brainard's estate.

The hearing was continued to next Friday, when both sides expect to complete their cases.

HUNT OUTLAW, SHOT CLEANING HIS OWN GUN

G-Men Identify Kidnap Gang in Holdup.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The blundering use of a gun may be the downfall of Huron Walters, a southwestern desperado. Walters accidentally shot himself in a leg a few weeks ago.

This was disclosed here today by the federal bureau of investigation. Federal agents also revealed that while on recent raids in Illinois Walters and his companion, Floyd Hamilton, kidnaped a Chicagoan and stole his automobile just before they committed a $34,000 pay roll robbery in Woodriver, Ill.

Information about Walters' injury came from the gunmen's women. The latter were captured July 29 at Summit, Ill., after Walters escaped in a gun fight.

Women Both Divorcées.

The women are Ruby May Roberts of Vivian, Ia., and Lois Weber of Dupo, Ill. Federal agents described each as a divorcée, 20 years old. Previously they had given the names of Lorraine Wilson and Neal Hearn.

They met the gunmen, whom police of half a dozen states want for bank robberies and other crimes, at Shreveport, La. At a tourist camp on the way north one night Walters shot himself just below a knee while he and Hamilton were cleaning their guns, the girls said.

Reaching Joliet, Ill., Walters asked a physician to remove the bullet. He became suspicious of the doctor, however, and fled from the office without treatment. Federal agents believe he may be seized if he seeks medical aid again or that his limp may bring about his capture.

Escapes in Gun Fight.

The day after he visited the physician Walters escaped from the Summit police in a gun fight. Then, federal agents learned, he returned to a Joliet tourist camp and picked up Hamilton and the two fled twenty minutes before the arrival of state highway police.

Two nights later—July 30—the gunmen surprised John Keating, 45 years old, a millwright, in front of his home at 6102 Dorchester avenue, Chicago, and stole his automobile, the federal agents disclosed today. Several hours later they dumped him out in a corn field near Barrington, Ill., after taking $11 and binding his hands and feet.

They were next heard from Aug. 5. Stopping in front of the Woodriver postoffice they held up a bank messenger and took a $34,000 pay roll in small bills.

BOXER ARRESTED FOR RAPING TWO WOMEN IN PARK

The Wabash avenue police yesterday solved the rape of two women, one of them white, in Washington park within the last month. A colored amateur boxer confessed. The police said they also expect him to admit attacking three other women in the park.

The Negro, Hosea Hudson, 22 years old, 3243 Grenshaw avenue, was captured at 5 a. m. yesterday when he approached a couple parked in an automobile. The woman screamed. Policemen stationed about the park to catch the moron, seized Hudson as he fled.

Later at the station he was identified by a young woman, 19 years old, who was abducted from her escort by three Negroes on Aug. 5. They raped her and beat her when she resisted. Hudson was carrying a toy pistol and a fake police badge he used, police said, in intimidating escorts of his victims.

MOST BEAUTIFUL PICKETS IN U. S. PICKET AT A FAIR

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 12.—(AP)—A picket line, described by Golden Gate International exposition officials as the "most beautiful in America," was established by a dozen "theme girls" today in front of fair headquarters.

The theme of the theme girls was "The fair's unfair." They carried signs reading: "We're out on a limb." "We want a leg-acy."

The girls decided to picket after exposition officials ruled publicity must include more pictures of fair buildings and fewer pictures of fair maidens.

JULIAN BENTLEY OF RADIO HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Julian Bentley, 1120 Lake Shore drive, a radio news editor, was recovering in St. Joseph's hospital in Menominee, Mich., yesterday from injuries suffered Thursday night when his automobile overturned in highway M-35 near there. His wife, Ruth, received minor injuries. The couple was returning from a vacation trip.

George H. Getschow, 37 years old, of Evanston, was killed last night in an accident involving two passenger cars and a truck in U. S. highway 31, five miles south of Scottsburg, Ind. Police said he tried to pass the truck and collided with an oncoming car. Four other persons were injured. They were Mr. and Mrs. Felix Williams and small son of Greensburg, Ind., who were in the oncoming car, and Mary Brown of Scottsburg, who was in the truck.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 497 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 381 were killed within the city, where 11,567 were injured in trafic accidents in the same period.

Police were searching yesterday for three young colored robbers who murdered Wesley Van Norman, 39 years old, head of the Van Norman Molding company, 6437 State street, early in the day.

John McCarthy, 6613 Hartwell street, employed at the Commercial garage, 6651 State street, witnessed the attack. He told police he saw the three hoodlums came up behind Van Norman beneath a street light near the garage. One struck Van Norman. He fell. Then, McCarthy said, all three rifled his pockets, running away when McCarthy shouted and ran toward them.

NIXON SENTENCED TO DIE OCT. 21 IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Robert Nixon, colored, was sentenced yesterday to die in the electric chair on Oct. 21 for the brick murder of Mrs. Florence Johnson. The sentence was imposed by Judge John C. Lewe in Criminal court in accordance with the verdict of a jury which found Nixon guilty on Aug. 4.

Mrs. Johnson, wife of a city fireman, was beaten to death in her apartment at 4631 Lake Park avenue last May 27. Nixon's accomplice, Robert Hicks, colored, has pleaded guilty to the slaying.

Despite the death sentence, Nixon will be arraigned on Sept. 14 for the brick murders of two other women, Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle of the Devonshire hotel and Miss Anna Kuchta, nurse at the Chicago hospital. Nixon has confessed the crimes.

FUGITIVE SLAYER OF HOUSEKEEPER SEIZED IN STREET

Peter Hughes, who shot and killed his elderly housekeeper Thursday night, was arrested yesterday as he walked in Fullerton avenue near Geneva terrace. He was seized by a friend, Policeman John O'Brien, who took him to the Hudson avenue station. There Hughes refused to talk about the slaying, staring dazedly at questioners. In his pocket was the death pistol.

Hughes, a former policeman, flew into a rage Thursday when his housekeeper, Miss Mary Blake, 65 years old, and his daughter, Margaret, 16, began arguing at the dinner table in the Hughes apartment, 1024 Belden avenue. He got a revolver and fired two shots, which missed Margaret and her brother, Jackie, 15. Another bullet struck Miss Blake.

Hughes was discharged from the police force for intoxication in April, 1937.

STATE RELEASES ACCUSED SLAYER IN DRAKE HOLDUP

The state's attorney's office yesterday dismissed a murder charge against William Melnechuck, an exconvict. He was accused of being the survivor of a gang of five gunmen who shot and killed a cashier in the sensational Drake hotel robbery in 1925.

Two of the gunmen were killed by police. The other two were captured and hanged. Melnechuck was sought after the two captured bandits had named him as a member of the gang. He was arrested in California.

Assistant State's Attorney Francis McCurrie told Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court that witnesses of the holdup had failed to identify Melnechuck and that a determined effort to get evidence had been unsuccessful because of the lapse of time.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—A camera gun played a big part in England's demonstration of aërial warfare held last week. Airmen armed with the device recorded their "hits" on film. The film record of each gunner's "shots" later was studied as an aid to future aircraft gunnery.

WORSE AND WORSE.

It has now been proved by documents that David Lilienthal, Harcourt Morgan, and the top lawyers for TVA knew all along that Senator Berry's claim against TVA for 5 million dollars was phony. The TVA's chief geologist had given them the lowdown as early as November, 1934, but still they agreed to make a deal for the worthless claims and not resist them. Berry was influential in Tennessee politics and in labor circles and was a big shot in Washington. Only after the 1936 election was out of the way and an investigation of TVA was probable did the TVA majority decide to resist the Berry claims, as Dr. Arthur Morgan all along had demanded.

Ugly as that aspect of the matter is, the rest of the story, as it has been told to the congressional committee investigating TVA, is even more damning. The delicate regard for Mr. Berry's financial welfare which was displayed in Knoxville was matched in Washington. The second, third, and fourth paragraphs of the now famous report of Edwin C. Eckel, chief geologist for TVA [dated Nov. 30, 1934], read as follows:

"2. At some time within the past year Major George L. Berry, who now holds an important position in the NRA, acquired an interest in the Ford & Harris project. That interest is stated to be 50 per cent.

"3. Several months ago the government, presumably acting through the supervising architect, United States treasury, specified for some government structure in Washington, D. C., a marble occurring on one of the Ford & Harris leases. It is stated that marble was bought at twice the price of Knoxville marble. It is the first time this particular stone was ever used or offered for use in any government structure.

"4. It is evident that if this procedure continues very high values can be given to all of the worthless mineral resources of the Norris area. Because, if one government agency buys them at a high price it will be entirely impossible for us to establish in court the fact that they are really useless in a free competitive market."

That was only the first of Maj. Eckel's warnings. Soon he was able to report that Berry's marble, known as Berry Brocatelle, was an inferior stone.

"It was not a good marble," he testified. "We slopped ink on it from a fountain pen and couldn't get the ink off. It's too porous."

But the treasury department in Washington, which never before had specified it for use in a public building, was employing this inferior stone in the lobby of a new warehouse in Washington and it was doing so without submitting samples to the bureau of standards for routine testing. The stone was being used also in postoffices.

More amazing still, it was being used by the TVA itself. The specifications for the Wheeler dam powerhouse called for Imperial Black and Brocatelle Tennessee marbles. These were trade names, Maj. Eckel testified, and only Senator Berry's firm could fill the bill.

The testimony of Evans Dunn, assistant general counsel for TVA, showed that the Berry group was relying largely on its sales of Berry Brocatelle to the government to establish the value of the lands which were to be submerged behind the Norris dam. The fact that the government was buying the stuff was to prove its merit and the price which the government was paying was to establish the extent of the damage.

Berry and his associates owned two quarries producing Brocatelle and claimed there were large deposits of this stone in the lands they had leased.

"The Berry quarry," according to Maj. Eckel, "is 35 miles from Knoxville and costs [of production] are five times higher than in Knoxville. They either had to give the marble away to get a market or get a high price. I wasn't sure which it was in the sale of marble in federal buildings."

That remains for the congressional committee to find out. At the suggestion of Congressman Ewing Thomason of Texas, Francis Biddle, the committee's chief counsel, is to write to the treasury department in Washington to obtain further details. As Mr. Biddle has insisted repeatedly that he is genuinely concerned to find the truth and to spare no one in the search for it, he can hardly content himself with writing a letter. He will subpena the officials in Washington who specified the Berry product for public buildings and find out why they did so and why samples were not submitted to the bureau of standards for testing. He will find out who in the TVA organization specified the Berry marbles for the buildings at Wilson and Norris dams and why this was done. Failure to summon every one who may have light to throw on these aspects of the TVA will evidence a determination to whitewash Lilienthal and Harcourt Morgan.

Meanwhile the nation has been given proof of its debt to Dr. Arthur Morgan for resisting and exposing the attempted fraud, and to Congressman Charles Wolverton for his skill in obtaining vital facts on cross-examination. At the same time the President's insistence on removing Dr. Morgan becomes increasingly difficult to excuse, much less justify. There appear to have been many trustworthy men, like Maj. Eckel, on the staf of TVA, but to date Dr. Morgan appears as the only member of the board who had an active conscience and obeyed its commands. So he was fired and the others were left in possession.

LONG TERM INVESTMENTS.

A generation ago bonds of leading railroads were considered the safest investment. The business was proved. And it was bound to get better in a big country like this, with the population and the industries growing all the time. New competition was out of the question, for land values were so high that the construction of new lines was impossible. With a future that could only be brighter the thing to do was to invest for as long term as possible. The demand was accommodated. Securities were put out payable in 1970, 1987, 1990, 2008, and even to more remote dates. One issue of railroad bonds falls due in 2361 A. D.

How mistaken the last generation was about its investments a glance at the bond tables will show. One issue of 4½ per cents, due in 1960, is currently priced at $4.50. A very considerable choice of 4 and 5 per cent bonds, which were put out around 100, are selling for less than 20.

Those folks who were buying securities twenty-five years ago should not be criticized too severely for paying so much for what now sells for so little. It could not have been foreseen then that regulation would be carried to the point of depriving the roads of a large part of the trafic to the west coast, and that some of the finest transcontinental carriers would land in the bankruptcy court. No one could have imagined that the burden of taxation on the lines would have been carried to the point where the revenues are not enough for some lines to meet both the pay rolls and the tax bills.

It was certainly not predictable that the federal government would make bankrupts of the granger roads by paying farmers to reduce the amount of products which they shipped to markets. These developments, drastically affecting the ability of roads to pay their bonds and service them, were not foreseen twenty-five years in advance, and yet they sold and the best informed investors purchased securities which represented a forecast of the ability of carriers to meet obligations a half century, a century, or even four centuries in the future.

Ten years ago electric light and power bonds were the prime investments. And long term securities were issued in great volume. By flawless reasoning it was determined that the utilities constituted a depression-proof industry. The demand for power is ever rising, and rates were fixed on a cost plus basis. Could anything be safer? It was not and probably could not have been foreseen that the government would spend hundreds of millions of dollars in hydro-electric plants to destroy the private light company investments. That the federal government would make gifts to communities to establish competing services was not foretold. In 1928 the public utilities were the most inviting for conservative investment. Today the industry is regarded as the least promising, and security issues put out by all but the top grade of utility companies are selling at heavy discounts.

A quarter century has shown the hazard which exists in long term investments. We live in a world in which the unexpected is continuously happening. How can any one promise to pay a fixed sum many years in the future out of the earnings of a particular business when the business may be obsolete a few years in the future? Debt is one of the most useful tools of society. It has made possible the building of our great industries. It has contributed much to lifting the standard of living. It plays an important rôle in booms and is the part of the villain in depressions. If experience teaches anything it is that twenty-five years isn't long in the life of an individual, but too long in the life of a debt.

AN EDITORIAL.

[BY JOHN STUART MILL.]

"A people may prefer a free government; but if from indolence, or carelessness, or cowardice, or want of public spirit, they are unequal to the exertions necessary for preserving it; if they will not fight for it when directly attacked; if they can be deluded by the artifices used to cheat them out of it; if by momentary discouragement or temporary panic, or a fit of enthusiasm for an individual, they can be induced to lay their liberties at the feet of even a great man, or trust him with powers which enable him to subvert their institutions—in those cases they are more or less unfit for liberty."

ABOUT PLACE NAMES.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

We are not strong on Indian names in the region about Cincinnati. True, we have the Ohio and the two Miamis. Our rivers bear Indian names, but few towns and villages.

Cincinnati itself comes from Gov. St. Clair, first governor of the Northwest Territory, whose ear was so horrified by the old name of Losantiville that he abruptly rechristened the town. Probably he gave no particular thought to it. On the spur of the moment he remembered his election to the Society of the Cincinnati, thought that had a musical and classic sound and let it go at that.

Nome, in Alaska, came from a mapmaker's mistake. The surveyor who made the map put on it "Cape Name?" But the man who copied the map mistook the question as to what was the name and thought it Nome. And so it remains.

Some place names are puzzling. There is the town of Marenisco on the northern peninsula of Michigan. The people there thought it was an Indian name, but no living Indian could give a solution. Finally the original settler confessed he had made the name by a condensation of the syllables of his wife's maiden name, Mary Ellen Riley Scott. At Ishpeming, Mich., the inhabitants boast the name of their town means "Heaven," while the neighboring town Negaunee means "Hell." As a matter of fact, Ishpeming means "The High Place" and Negaunee means "The First Here." Peter White, the original iron master in Michigan and founder of the pioneer iron works, asked the Indians for a translation of "pioneer." They gave him Negaunee.

There is the old story of the time when Frank Hatton was postmaster general. Rural postmasters thought to flatter him by naming the postoffice after him. Finally when there were seven Hattons, and another was proposed, he felt the thing had gone far enough and suggested the office be named Hatoff. The tale is true as far as the seven Hattons are concerned, but no such postoffice as Hatoff is now on the official rolls.

Our local place names have no absurdities, though many of them are far from original. Some few of them are remarkably good, such as Lockland, which commemorates the locks on the old canal. As for Cincinnati, it is so distinctive that no one can find fault with it.

His ancestor's diary, A Diary of the French Revolution, will be out in October. Passages discreetly inked out by the widow of the man who was a friend of George Washington and a minister to France during the Reign of Terror have been restored by means of an infra red machine in the Library of Congress. The present Gouverneur Morris tells a neat little story about his famous forbear too Gallic in flavor for this column.

—Al Jolson, in town yesterday, took the digits of his room number at the Blackstone and his telephone number at Encino, Cal., the town of which he is mayor, and bet on similarly numbered horses at Washington Park. Said he understood the wimmin had been winning the jackpot by similar systems.

Not a Fable.

Ernest, the iceman at Fontana, on Lake Geneva, who goes out early in the morning with his truck to deliver ice to the cottagers and comes back at noon to his wife, jingling his tongs and his money, was distressed by the skunk cabbage that grew in his door yard. It was the largest skunk cabbage in Fontana, and the more he cut it back the faster it grew. Finally, one day, in desperation he tried to dig it up and called his wife to help. Together, straining and pulling, they managed to tear it from the ground, tumbling over backward as its roots released their hold. When they got to their feet a spring was bubbling and gushing where the cabbage had been.

The city fathers served notice that springs were not permitted within ten feet of the highway, and in vain Ernest pointed out, says Lucy Young, that he could no more dry up the spring than he could dry up Lake Geneva. He studied his problem as he delivered ice, and worked at a solution afternoons and evenings. Now the spring runs down a pipe into Ernest's basement, circulates around a drum, where he stores his milk and butter, and drains out into the back garden. And also air conditions his home.

CONSISTENCY.

Vacation's the nation's obsession,
But I hereby make a confession:
I hate noisy trains,
I fear soaring planes,
Cuss smelly buses—don't ride a bike,
Am shy of horses, and loathe a hike.
I'm no sailor,
Own no trailer;
Hate camps, dude ranches, swank hotels—
Am unmoved by scenic hills or dells.
I don't like tennis, golf, or swimmin',

ARE YOU DRY-EYED?

EVERY healthy person is producing tears constantly. When the lacrimal glands are overstimulated the duct which leads from the inner angle of each orbit into the nose cannot carry the surplus away and in consequence the secretion overflows on to the cheeks. This also occurs when there is any obstruction within these pathways. The fountainhead of this fluid is located near the upper outer corner of each eye, and the lubricant which oozes over the eyeball toward the nose serves to wash away particles of dirt and dust during the act of winking.

This is one of nature's provisions to which we pay little attention. In fact, many of us may not be aware of its existence until something happens to the mechanism or to the nerve which governs it. Approximately one teaspoonful of liquid is manufactured and used in this manner every twenty-four hours.

Grief or some manifestation of the emotion leads to the formation of a larger amount than normal, varying from "moisture" to weeping. In the latter situation the gland is so active that the exits are flooded and a handkerchief must be brought into play. One may be conscious of the gushing into the nose from the feeling of fullness in the nostrils.

But let us suppose that there is too little of this important irrigating solution. The eyes may feel dry or the lids sticky. The patient may be conscious of a stinging or smarting sensation early in the morning which may continue for several hours. As a rule this does not interfere with vision, although the eyes may appear somewhat congested. Nevertheless, after a time, a thorough examination of the cornea [the clear portion] with a magnifying glass may show tiny dried areas which, if allowed to continue, may lead to the development of minute ulcers. Often the only discomfort complained of is that the optics feel "scratchy."

This condition is not uncommon in women past middle life, particularly sufferers from arthritis, but young persons may be affected as well. C. W. Rucker reports the case of a girl of 17 who, six months before the onset of symptoms, observed swelling on the left side of the face which later involved the eyelid. Apparently an infection of some sort had attacked not only the structures furnishing saliva, but the lacrimal machinery as well. Dried areas were detected on the cornea.

As a palliative measure she was instructed to instill an oily compound three times a day. In spite of this treatment some pain persisted, the lids were adherent in the morning, and the eyes more sensitive than usual. Careful measurement disclosed that the output of tears was reduced greatly. The patient then was supplied with an artificial mixture to replace the missing liquid, its use was followed by temporary relief. The outlet duct next was plugged with the result that the lesions on the cornea healed completely, although laboratory made "tears" still were employed. This illustrates a state of affairs in which the fountain was secreting in part, but not enough for smooth movements.

This arid state is in direct contrast to the profuse quantity of tears which sometimes exists, dripping from the inner corners of one or both eyes due to stoppage of the canals leading into the nose. If an infection lodges anywhere along this channel an abscess may form. There are cases in which such a stoppage is present at birth, and the possibility should always be investigated in babies whose eyes water constantly. Fortunately, ophthalmologists generally are able to open the tube by means of a probe and free the canal from the obstruction.

MAY BE DANGEROUS.

P. D. Q. writes: What causes bony tumors? Are they curable? Are they malignant? I have one on my left leg midway between the knee and the ankle. Some friends advise me to have it removed, others oppose, saying it will return. What advice should I follow?

REPLY.

Is your tumor attached to the bone [an outgrowth] or does it lie in the muscles? If it is attached to the skeleton and is growing it may be dangerous. You should not temporize with such a condition. A stone-like affair lying within the soft tissues may be of no great significance.

BLEACHING SURPLUS HAIR.

E. M. K. writes: Will you print a simple method of bleaching hair on legs and arms? I have been told that ammonia and peroxide are good. How much of each should be used?

REPLY.

1. Wash parts with soap and water; rinse well.
2. Apply ammonia water [fresh and not caustic] with a pledget of cotton; do not dry.
3. Follow immediately with a solution of fresh hydrogen peroxide. This method is safe and may be repeated as often as the hair requires bleaching. It is very important to have the parts clean.

BARKING DOGS.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—[Friend of the People.]—I wish to protest about the dog barking nuisance in the district in which I live. There is almost constant barking. It is particularly bad from 9 p. m. until midnight and after. Every house in the block has more than one dog, and most of them, I have no doubt, are not licensed. The fifty or more people in the apartment building in which I reside heartily wish that the nuisance would be ended and ask your kind coöperation.

A. B.

Four of the dog owners have been given seven days to procure dog licenses and also have been warned as to dogs making noise. Those having licenses have been warned as to dogs barking.

Commissioner Chicago Police Department.

LEASE.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My daughter, who works for a small salary, is my only support. She has been offered a better position in another state. We have a small apartment. Can she break the lease?

DEBUNKING OUR LAKE.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—The story in THE TRIBUNE regarding the heat yesterday and about humidity is a laugh. It's about time some debunking was done.

The press-sponsored myth about the great cooling qualities of Lake Michigan pains any one who suffers from the condition created by that same lake—the perpetual and excessive humidity. Your own charts showed that all day Wednesday it was verging on the point of rain—but you neglected to point that fact out in words. Rain is simply 100 per cent humidity.

Certainly, higher average temperatures obtain on the Sahara desert, in Death Valley, Azizia, and Arabia. But people continue to live there, don't they? Why? Because it is dry, and the heat is a dry heat, not saturated with moisture all the time. Human beings could not exist in Chicago, with its excessive humidity, if the temperature were as high as the places cited.

Chicago has become a large city because of its natural advantages as a focus of transportation and not because of its climate. Those who have never lived anywhere except Chicago don't know any better, but those who have enjoyed residence in far more salubrious climes are sadly awake to the shortcomings of this particular spot.

VERY ANNOYED.

A GARBAGE CONTRAST.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—I have lived in Chicago for the last fifteen years and always thought it was a pretty clean place, and I still think so in many respects. However, I frankly draw the line when it comes to the garbage pickup situation, which is inexcusable.

I spent the last seven months in a southern city and during all that time our garbage was picked up regularly every other day. We have been back in Chicago just four weeks yesterday and in that time we have had one garbage pickup. Boy, what a contrast!

With all the unemployment and seemingly unlimited funds for some things, I cannot understand why we don't all get together and raise plenty of noise until this deplorable condition is remedied for all time. Our health commissioner should raise his voice a little louder than the rest of us. H. C. W.

THE POLICE LIST AGAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—I am one of many young men who took the several tests for patrolman of the city of Chicago in 1936. The list has not been posted as yet.

Recently, upon inquiring at room 1006, city hall, as to when the list would be posted, I was informed by the man behind the cage that he didn't expect it would be posted until after the November election. I asked him what the election had to do with a police list, and he said: "You ask me."

With approximately 300 vacancies in the police department and so many young men out of work it seems unnecessary to wait three months till after an election. "YOU ASK ME."

SILLIEST—OUT OF WASHINGTON.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—As a regular subscriber for 25 years I note today with much regret that Ed Sullivan claims to be the fellow who gave us the Ritz brothers. Of all the silly asses outside of Washington, the Ritz brothers take the prize, which probably should be a TVA dam or an autographed photo of Ickes and weeping Mme. Perkins, or of their celebrated leader—F. Deficit R.

My platform is, "Every One on Relief." X. Y. Z.

A RANCHER AND ROOSEVELT.

Aurora, Ill., Aug. 12.—About six years ago an acquaintance inherited an artesian well irrigated hay and cattle ranch in New Mexico. The ranch was well located and stocked.

All ranchers in this district used internal combustion engines with distillate for fuel for pumping water. Without a constant supply of water their hay lands would again become a desert and their cattle would perish.

Shortly after taking over his ranch the dust from the Dust Bowl so filled the air that it was often necessary to clean the engine carburetor and occasionally to remove carbon and regrind the valves.

This rancher had but little mechanical experience but had read that the internal combustion engine was able to utilize only a small part of the total power in any fuel. So without consulting with the engine builders or taking expert advice he bought new carburetors, generators, pistons, cylinder heads, gears, and even parts of Diesel and steam engines to rebuild this engine.

He spent all of his time tearing down, replacing, and reassembling the engine trying to get it to run. Sometimes it would run for a short time, then something would go wrong again and it would be torn down and another idea tried. After six years it still would not run as it formerly did. In the meantime his lands have dried up and he has had to haul water and buy feed from his neighbors to keep his cattle alive. Because of his losses and expenditures his creditors are now selling him out.

It seems that Roosevelt is like this rancher. He has torn down an economic, political, and social system which, though not perfect, worked well but needed occasional readjustment and overhauling. He is trying to remake our government, using parts of the capitalistic, communistic, and Fascistic theories. When he took office he had only a few problems to solve, now he has hundreds, and none has been solved.

While he is experimenting our industries are in a depression, one-quarter of our working population are without jobs, and many more working only part time. Capital is afraid to invest or expand, farm lands are idle while we are importing farm products and manufactured goods, taxes are rising, with no prospects of being decreased, our national debt has become a serious problem, and our social life a mess where thrift and industry are no longer considered necessary.

Would it not be better to quit experimenting and go back to the economic and social system that worked, and under which we prospered more and lived better than any other nation on the face of the earth?

We can improve and perfect our nation as we have in the past while we go along prospering, working, trusting, and being reasonably happy.

WILLIAM FREEMAN.

HOW DEAR ALBEN WON OUT.

Pineville, Ky., Aug. 10.—Well, folks, the Kentucky primary is over and now all the WPA workers can go back and lean on their own shovels. All the New Dealers or whatnots are yelling and celebrating their victory for "Dear Alben" Barkley, claiming a victory for the New Deal. It's really a victory for the great business adventure, the one and only WPA.

How long will true blooded Americans stand for such folly and buying of votes by taxpayers' money?

It might be true that Gov. Happy Chandler did put on a few extra weed cutters, but if he did they were paid cash for their labor out of money that had been collected in the state on gasoline taxes. Let's say he did put on 10,000, and counting three votes to each worker, this would be 30,000 votes. But wait a minute. Did you know that since March 1, right here in Kentucky, over 30,000 men have been taken off public works and off farms and put on WPA in order to control this primary and return Dear Allen to the senate? A victory bought and paid for in WPA loafing orders at a cost to the American taxpayers.

Besides putting on 30,000 more WPA workers they actually raised their wages to make it more enticing, not counting the fact that the cost of living here is lower than it has been in five years under the New Deal.

CHAS. H. HOSKINS.

ECHOES ACROSS THE HUDSON.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Good neighbor Divine will probably lose considerable sleep the next night or two as Brother Roosevelt will undoubtedly want to celebrate the showing made by Senator Pope in the Idaho primaries. However, if the noise gets too bad, Ma Divine can tell pa to get up and close the window.

Opening Hunt at Milburn Will Be Held Aug. 22

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT may seem a little too warm now to those who don't hunt to be making plans for the opening of the hunting season. But to those men and women who like nothing better than to follow the hounds mid-August is not too early to be setting a date for the first hunt.

The Mill Creek hunt will have its official, but informal, opening on the morning of Monday, Aug. 22. After that date the attractive clubhouse in Milburn will be open for breakfast and luncheon every day. This early opening is taking place mainly so that the girls and young men who will be going away to school or college in the early fall can have a taste of hunting before they leave.

Mrs. Samuel J. Walker, chairman of the house committee for the Mill Creek, will not be here for the first hunt because she and her children leave next week for their camp at Desbarats in Canada to remain until after Labor day. The vice chairman, Mrs. J. Andrews King, will be at the opening hunt, though, for she and her children return to Lake Forest next Monday from a vacation at Bear Island in Penobscot bay, Me.

The date of the first formal hunt has not been set, but it probably will be on Labor day. Usually Mrs. Merrill Hubbard, who returns to Lake Forest next Thursday from Brule, Wis., gives a breakfast following the first formal drag. Mrs. Walker and Mrs. King are planning a large hunt luncheon for a Sunday soon after Labor day. Austin H. Niblack and S. Prentice Porter are joint masters of the Mill Creek.

Fenollosa-Sutherland Nuptials Take Place Today.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sutherland are hoping that favorable weather will prevail this afternoon for the wedding of their daughter, Elizabeth, to George Manuel Fenollosa. The ceremony will take place in the gardens of the Sutherland home overlooking the lake in Glencoe at 4 o'clock. The Rev. Richard C. Talbot Jr. of St. Elizabeth's Episcopal church, Glencoe, will officiate. A reception will follow.

For something old Miss Sutherland will wear a gold pin surrounded with pearls and she will carry a white lace handkerchief that was carried by her maternal great-grandmother, grandmother, mother, and sister.

Miss Caroline Sutherland will be her sister's only attendant and J. Rawson Collins of Cincinnati, O., will be Mr. Fenollosa's best man. Mr. Fenollosa, who is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Sydney Kinsman Fenollosa of Salem, Mass., and his bride will live in Grand Rapids, Mich. The house in which they will live is being furnished with heirloom furniture that belonged to the bridegroom's parents.

Here for the wedding are Miss Sutherland's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest William Reinecke of Southern Pines, N. C., Arthur Young from New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Rugee White, Mrs. Martin Robinson, Willard Barnhart II., and Miss Antoinette Campau of Grand Rapids.

Miss Marcelle Duff to Be Bride Aug. 26.

The wedding of Miss Marcelle Mitchell Duff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Duff of 3750 Lake Shore drive, to Douglas James McFarlane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McFarlane of Delavan, Wis., will take place at 10 o'clock on Aug. 26 at the Knollwood club with a wedding breakfast and reception following.

It will be a small wedding with just the members of the two families and a few close friends present. Miss Duff and Mr. McFarlane will be unattended.

Open Garden Show at Lake Geneva.

Bright skies and a cool breeze provided perfect weather. The ingenuity and imagination of the members of the Garden club of Lake Geneva furnished a striking setting for the 34th annual exhibition of fruit, flowers, and vegetables which opened yesterday at Horticultural hall, in Lake Geneva, Wis. The show will continue today between 9 and 5 o'clock, standard time.

Entrance to the exhibition is through an archway of evergreens, past an arrangement of flower beds, two square ones filled with a colorful profusion of garden flowers, flanking a round one filled with green coleus and Belmont gardenias NOT in bloom, keeping the bed entirely green. A cool little brook gurgles through ferns, evergreens, and forget-me-nots at the north end of the hall.

Along the west wall are placed the shadow boxes of flowers, fruits and vegetables, a popular feature of every show. To Mrs. Frank S. Porter went first prize in the flower division, in which Mrs. Edwin B. Frost took second place with a vase of wild flowers grouped around one hibiscus blossom.

Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin Jr.'s arrangement of green grapes in a large bowl took the blue ribbon in the fruit boxes. Miss Edith Kohlsaat, who is president of the Garden club, was awarded a blue ribbon for her vegetable lady, a charming miss made of red and green cabbage leaves whose yellow corn arms ended in a muff of more of the red leaves. White onions, arranged by Mrs. Frederick Clifford to look like flowers, received a red ribbon.

First and second prizes in breakfast trays went respectively to Mrs. Robert Tarrant and Mrs. Philip T. Starck, and Mrs. E. H. Maytag won third. Mrs. Henry H. Porter received a blue ribbon for her handsome dinner table with its water garden centerpiece. Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne's table, also a dinner one, received honorable mention, and Mrs. William Spencer's old fashioned one took second.

Hutchinson Estate Shows Bog Garden.

The exhibit of the Hutchinson estate always is of interest, and this year it was a garden of ferns and a bog garden. Mrs. Edward Ayer's display of wild flowers against a background of evergreen and spruce trees also attracted attention.

Among other blue ribbon winners in various exhibits were Albert F. Madlener for honey; Miss Harriet Kaye for white eggs; Albert W. Harris for brown eggs; little Sybil Reese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans H. Reese and niece of Mrs. William F. Petersen, for bantam eggs; Mr. Harris and Samuel B. Chapin for chickens; William H. Emery for cottage cheese; Mr. Chapin for butter, and the William Wrigley estate for buttermilk.

Tea will be served again this afternoon dummy's club king and played the diamond ten. With East ducking, declarer put in the jack as a possible unblocking measure. West won with the queen and promptly shifted to hearts, in an effort to remove dummy's obvious entry. East won and returned a heart. After that it was a simple matter for West to hold up his diamond ace when declarer led the king and, thus, South was held to one diamond trick. The dummy was as dead as a door nail. Since only two spades, two hearts, and three clubs could be won by declarer, the sound contract was defeated one trick.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

As every one knows, it is desirable to lead up to certain honor combinations rather than away from them. It does not follow, however, that this must be the procedure in every case. At times a player is confronted with the problem of entries. It may be profitable to conserve entries even at the cost of making a "less comfortable" lead.

South, dealer.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding was quite orthodox. South, with four-plus honor tricks and 4-3-3-3 hand pattern, was quite correct to bid a no trump rather than a club. North, with one and one-half honor tricks in two suits, correctly raised the no trump rather than waste time on an ambiguous minor suit take-out. South, of course, had sufficient value over a minimum to go to game.

West opened the club jack. Declarer, after a glance at dummy, saw that it would be desirable to lead up to the K-J-7 of diamonds, hence put

The fault for this defeat lay in declarer's management of the diamond suit. True, it was desirable to play toward the K-J, but this was by no means the only consideration. Dummy had only two entries. Unless declarer found a very fortunate lay of diamonds, the lead from dummy would avail nothing because he never would be able to establish the suit, and cash it when established. Declarer could well afford to give up two diamond tricks, if he retained entries to dummy whereby to cash the long diamonds. Note how this philosophy works out.

The club ace wins the first trick and declarer lays down the diamond king. It would do West no good to hold up because declarer would merely lead a second diamond. Let us assume that West takes the king immediately and shifts to a heart, his best defense. Dummy's heart entry goes but the club king remains until declarer himself chooses to use it. Obviously, the opponents cannot take more than two hearts and two diamonds, leaving nine easy tricks for the declarer.

Through the Looking Glass

Nail news:

Do try the white lacker on your nails if your hands are tanned. It looks much smarter than it sounds, and after the first surprise you'll probably like it. It's especially effective with black costumes that are dramatized with white touches. Don't try it if your fingernails are very small, though.

There are polish bases out, transparent liquids, that cover all the tiny roughnesses and ridges that so often keep polish from going on smoothly. The liquid base gives a satin-smooth foundation and a certain protection to the nail itself. If you want a high luster use the same lacker base over the polish coat as well. This final coat gives sheen, doesn't dim the color of the polish, and helps in protecting the polish coat.

If you've been wondering why your nail polish doesn't stay on as well as it used to you might investigate the things you handle. Some colognes and perfumes will take polish off; so will some sun tan preparations. If you're a housewife you've probably noticed that certain scouring powders and pads do the same thing.

It's not fair to lay all the blame on the polish if your lacker coat doesn't last. It's a good precaution to keep remover and polish on hand all the time; it's almost inevitable that you'll need repairs in between manicures.

And when you do repair your polish, buff your nails before you apply the new coat. It takes but a few moments [never buff too long or too hard] and is a boon to nail health as well as luster.

Jackets, Fringe Skirts Pep Up Summer Frocks

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Pepping up a wilted summer wardrobe is quite some problem, but enterprising clothes mixers can do a grand job with the extras that can be found around the town; extras that will revive the most jaded outfits whether they be of dark linen or crêpes. Even the dark sheers can be worked over with some rather exciting results.

If the top of your black or dark sheer is beyond repair, use the skirt and try some white or pastel sheer tops for the last sultry days of summer. Some of these tops look like short sleeved smart jackets and when you combine skirt and top you've a distinctive looking street or office ensemble that is hard to beat for cool comfort.

Buy a good fitting dark silk crêpe costume slip and try the top trickery. And very little money is necessary to swing the deal. If you crave an afternoon outfit for extremely little cash outlay, try one of the newest arrivals in town, the fringe skirt. They're intriguing enough to make any one want to go native, a silk fringe version of the straw skirt idea.

Priced under $5, these black fringed numbers can be the snappy swing motif for a simple black dress, making it new, utterly different from the original dress. The long fringe hangs from the hip section which fits almost any streamline, for the three inch deep band is made with good stretching lastex. These skirts are among the best finds of the week.

If you're soft hearted about fringe, you'll also like the short fringed bolero's in either black, white, brown or blue. These swing short, just clear the belt and have short sleeves. Horizontal rows of narrow silk fringe are sewed to a sheer material that makes the bolero.

Anxious Child May Require Building Up

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The following letter is, I think, not too intimate nor too personal to use in our column today:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: I have a problem with my little girl and I would appreciate any advice you may give.

"My 7½ year old daughter was a victim of whooping cough, which she developed about nine weeks before school closed. Before that time she was perfect, physically and mentally. On her return to school the first week she was as normal as ever. The last week she constantly cried in school, and on entering both morning and at noon.

"One day she cried so bitterly the teacher was compelled to call me to come and take her home, and I did. On a friendly suggestion by the teacher she was taken from school the remaining days.

"From then till now she doesn't allow me to be out of her sight for a moment and constantly asks if I am going anywhere.

"She was promoted from the 2B with a mark of A minus, B plus, so you can see that she is not a backward child in school."

Of all children's diseases I think whooping cough is taken the most lightly, considering the nature and effects of the disease.

The whooping sensation, which is sometimes actually one of strangling, is often terrifying and hard on the nerves. The illness itself, coupled with the fact that it interferes with some children's retaining their food, is apt to pull them down a great deal, physically. Anything which lowers the nervous tone and general physical resistance may make a child prey to unaccountable fears. These frequently disappear when he returns to normal health.

As to the particular case described in today's letter, I think it possible that the comments I have made may cover the situation. However, where fears exist it is always a wise plan for parents to cast around in their minds for possible causes.

Where fears are concerned it is always wise to try, gently and sympathetically, to bring them to light. Often they can be dispelled in that way.

With this little girl I believe first she should be built up in every way by the right routine and lots of pleasant play. Also, that an effort should be made to find the origin of these fears without too much probing. Suggestions for a wise routine for the nervous child are obtainable on request.

Park's Encore Record Broken by Della Chiesa

BY EDWARD BARRY.

By singing one dozen songs at the band shell in Grant park last evening Vivian Della Chiesa very probably made a record. Memory does not turn up a single soloist in the history of these open air lake front concerts who has offered quite so many items.

Miss Della Chiesa is the tall, blonde East Chicago [Ind.] soprano who made an auspicious start in radio a few years ago. She followed this with a successful debut with the Chicago opera during the '36-'37 season.

The number of songs which were demanded and sung last evening is an accurate index to the size and enthusiasm of the crowd. Friends and admirers of Miss Della Chiesa, as well as the vast general public which perfect weather had drawn to the park, overflowed the audience area on all sides. Generous applause and the feeling of contented rapport between audience and artist kept the songs going until the original plan of the program had to be abandoned entirely.

Supported by Leroy Shield's NBC orchestra, the singer offered such things as "La Primavera d'Or" [done with great rhythmic verve]; Rossini's "Danza" [quite intoxicating in its cumulative excitement], and "Il est doux, il est bon" from Massenet's "Herodiade." The emotional identification with her character which Miss Della Chiesa achieved resulted in rich and effective nuances both of color and of tempo.

Among her other songs were little Mexican tunes, the popular "I Carry You in My Pocket," and a puzzling creation called "My Johann." This turns out to be the Grieg Norwegian dance which was used years ago by Pavlowa for her Dutch dance. It is now equipped with words, and carries such moving sentiments as "I always have a lot of fun with Johann."

The singer's voice quality ranged through the evening from fair to very good. In Friml's "Indian Love Call" she achieved a round, well focused, sensuously lovely effect which was definitly wanting in some of the program's more worthy items, notably the "Ernani" air.

During the singer's first group flowers were brought to the stage. They had been sent by the Claudia Muzio Memorial society, a group to which Miss Della Chiesa herself belongs.

Mr. Shield and his orchestra departed from Grant park tradition by programming the Rachmaninoff E minor symphony. The piece's flowing, questioning melodies and its dark, lugubrious tonal masses were very impressive out on the moonlit steppe.

Child's Knitted Sweater Lovely in Scotch Colors

BY JEAN MACDONALD.

When Cissie needs a new sweater for her school wardrobe she will deviate from the monotone and two toned blouses of her older sisters and come in a neat little sweater thoroughly suited to the 6 year old miss. Variegated yarns in the colors of the famous Scotch clans will be her choice, and worn with a plaited skirt of a solid color. The simple and perfectly plain sweater will take no time at all to knit. Started now, it is not an impossible feat for the amateur knitter to finish this cunning sweater in a week's time. Ribbing is used at the waistband and for the cuffs. The rest of the sweater is done in the stockinette stitch, which is one row of knitting and one row of purling.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Closeup of Crawford

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 12.—I asked Joan Crawford yesterday if she'd ever try love again. She shook her head emphatically. "Never again. I don't believe there's a man in the world who has the capacity for taking love seriously for more than a few months. Girls can and do, but not men. They've got too many other things to occupy their minds, I guess."

I suggested that perhaps her own driving ambition for a career had overpowered Daniel Cupid. She said: "I was most ambitious to make a success of marriage."

What split Joan and Franchot apart? It has been suggested that she was in love with another star. It has been rumored that Franchot was in love with another girl. Both of these gossip items are ridiculous, because I think they are still in love with each other and if certain things were to happen it would not surprise some of us to see them back together again.

Let's analyze the things that split them up. Franchot Tone, from the day that he arrived in Hollywood, disliked the place. His heart and enthusiasms were back in New York with the group theater, that idealistic group of youngsters who visioned themselves as the Sir Galahads of the legitimate theater, each one astride a white horse and willing and eager to tilt against windmills. He resented the sham of Hollywood, the pretensions of some of its noisier members. Undoubtedly he must have resented [as any young husband would] the fact that his wife was a star.

The escape from all of this, he probably reasoned, was the group theater in New York. So the conflict was set up between the group theater and the movies. He idealized the one; quite naturally Joan Crawford, owing everything to the movies, couldn't understand his attachment to the other. It was that conflict that originated the friction. Extended over a three-year span, the accumulated friction exploded recently.

Who uttered the first provocative word? As easy to chart the way of a ship in the sea. It may have been the noise he made brushing his teeth in the bathroom, or perhaps she left a jar of cold cream uncovered. On such trifles was Reno constructed. Perhaps it was a misunderstanding based on liquor. Franchot likes vodka. Joan doesn't drink. She had a rather frightening example of what liquor can do in her own immediate family. So she never drinks and doesn't like people who do drink. She's never had any sympathy for those who claim that they inherited a taste for liquor. She points out that on that theory she would be a drunkard instead of a teetotaler.

Will they patch up the misunderstanding? It all depends. Franchot is going to New York to rejoin the group theater. If it is as bright and brilliant and heart warming as he believes it will solve all his problems.

If he finds he has exaggerated it in his imaginings I think that he'll come back here and live happily ever after with Joan Crawford and transfer all of his enthusiasms to pictures. As it is now he's torn between two poles. Until he determines to his own satisfaction which is which he'll have no peace of mind or heart. I think he'll return to the movies and live happily ever after. I hope so. He's a nice boy, a little mixed up.

I thought of all these things when I saw Joan Crawford on stage 10 at M.-G.-M. yesterday, but didn't talk to her about them. A black evening dress, cut low in back, revealed her shapely and tanned shoulders and back. A chap at a piano on the deserted stage was banging out a rhythm and Joan was rehersing a ballroom dance with dark, wiry Tony De Marco, who'll dance with her in "The Shining Hour," her next picture. They faced full length mirrors, which reflected every movement so that she could learn more readily.

To the left of the piano were two canvas backed chairs, one in blue canvas, one in white. Each had "Joan Crawford" printed on the canvas back. Solemnly sitting on the blue chair was a tan dachshund, which persisted in hopping down to the dance floor and following his mistress as she whirled and pivoted. "He chewed through his leash," explained Joan. "He's Franchot's dog." There was no connection between the thoughts.

She talked about the newspaper panning she received the night of the "Marie Antoinette" première, when she arrived late at the Cathay Circle theater, offending friends of Norma Shearer: "As a matter of fact, we were held up thirty minutes in trafic in front of the theater. I stayed one hour and forty minutes at the Trocadero party for Norma later, and finally left because I had to get up at 6 a. m. I didn't go on the radio broadcast because they said I'd have to read a speech from a typewritten card. I wanted to say something nice about Norma and refused to read something that somebody else had scribbled."

The piano started tinkling again. De Marco hopped up in front of the long mirrors and started doing a time step with triples. Joan started hopping the buck with him. "I used to get $35 a week from the Shuberts for doing this at the Winter Garden," she said. "Look at you, now," panted De Marco, in motion. "Yeah, look at me," she answered, and collapsed in one of the canvas chairs, gone in the wind.

Sylvia Sidney and Luther Adler to Be Married in London

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Sylvia Sidney, Hollywood screen star, and Luther Adler, New York actor, applied for a marriage license here today. Both had denied marriage rumors since Miss Sidney's arrival three weeks ago.

The date of the wedding was not disclosed. It was learned that the couple have reserved accommodations on the liner Champlain sailing Aug. 25. One of their friends said the trip would be their honeymoon.

Miss Sidney, whose first husband was Bennet Cerf, New York book publisher, gave her name as Sylvia Cerf and her age as 28. Adler, who is playing in "Golden Boy" at the St. James theater, gave his age as 35.

Lloyd Nolan Takes Place of Raft in 'St. Louis Blues'

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Paramount today replaced George Raft with Loyd Nolan in "St. Louis Blues." Raft was suspended yesterday for refusing a part in the picture. Paramount said that he would remain under suspension until a new story is found for him. Work was to have started on Aug. 1, but was delayed by Dorothy Lamour's illness. Cameras will start turning Monday.

BY ANNA NANGLE.

The crowd roars, the action is fast and furious, and Mr. Taylor proves that without a doubt he has hair on his chest.

The story is laid in the realm of boxing gloves and tells the tale of a little tenement kid who, through chance and ability, rises to the not-always-happy lot of a champion slugger. His mother washes for their miserable living and his father talks big for nothing. The latter soon finds that by exploiting his son's two talents, singing and fighting, he can obtain for himself a bit of cash.

By chance they encounter the current champion fighter, Johnny Martin, who takes an interest in the boy, and trains and encourages him. Father and son go on tour with the champ. The elder McCoy sidetracks letters and money Tommy sends home, and Mrs. McCoy dies during their absence.

Throughout his career the boy supports and endures his mouthy, alcoholic father. When he finally reaches the peak he is forced to fight his old friend Martin, now aged and penniless. The boy tries to pull his punches, but one of them clicks and the battered champ is fatally injured. Now labeled "Killer," McCoy quits, but soon learns that he has no other profession. He returns to the ring to find that his father has involved him in a deal with a gambler.

The story moves rapidly, with McCoy achieving big and easy money and a large heart interest in Gambler Cain's unsuspecting and carefully guarded daughter, who thinks papa's on Wall street. Finally the gambling boys begin to play rough, thanks again to the senior McCoy's bragging, wagging tongue, and the last half of the film moves speedily and suspensefully.

The story is neatly whipped together, with much effective hokum, gently inserted and made palatable by deft direction and a capable cast. Mr. Taylor is pleasant and natural and is sure to please his fans in his rôle.

Frank Morgan is marvelous as the difficult senior McCoy, a pompous, lazy old four-flusher. Lionel Stander supplies good comedy with blunt, blasting comments, and Edward Arnold is smooth as satin as the gambler. Bill Gargan is clean cut and likable as Martin, and Isabel Jewel effective as his thin little wife.

Unfamiliar as I am with the art of prize fighting I leave judgment as to the pugilistic angles of the film to the experts. To me "The Crowd Roars" was fast, smooth entertainment.

Movie Notables in Reno; Get 2 Guesses This Time

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 12.—[Special]—Paulette Goddard and A. C. Blumenthal left here this morning for Reno. However, there's not a divorce in a carload. She went to Reno to complete plans for her skiing venture which she'll promote next winter. Blumenthal went along because he's never seen the divorce capital, although he may within the next few months. Miss Goddard will go from Reno tomorrow to join Charlie Chaplin at Pebble Beach.

Should Public Cosmetic Use Be Censured?

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Some men object to it. The popular young screen star, Virginia Bruce, dislikes it heartily. Yet touching up the lips in a restaurant is such a common practice it is more or less accepted.

We think it is a question of your type—and your company. If you are naturally a frank young comrade to your men friends, or your husband's pal, the good sport type of girl, casually making up in public probably is in keeping with your character. Naturally you'll do it inconspicuously and not make a complete beauty treatment out of it. And you'll postpone it if your escort is a conservative.

Some girls rouge their lips to call attention to their mouth and make their young man think of kissing them, but that is naturally tete a tete.

The woman who wants to keep an illusion of mystery about herself will avoid exposing the mechanics of her beauty publicly. The many good indelible lipsticks will help her out.

We would rather have a woman make up in public than be the type who makes up her face in the morning and neglects it the rest of the day. By 3 o'clock she is pale mouthed and dingy skinned.

Every woman should make a habit of reviving her makeup every time she puts on her hat. Since a new complexion should not go on over a stale makeup, she should invest in one of those convenient little boxes of skin fresheners. Her powder puff should be washed and changed frequently and kept in a sanitary little bag.

Tenderfoot's Inheritance

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Jobless, Anne Claxton leaves New York to make a living on the ranch she has inherited in Wyoming. She refuses the last minute proposal of her city beau, Gerald. Getting off the train Anne accidentally meets Steve Hayward, a neighbor ranch owner, who invites her to lunch so that he can explain to her the situation at her ranch, which is heavily mortgaged. Jake Collins, who owns the adjoining ranch, expects to buy her out, but her uncle never would sell to him. Anne determines to stay and fight. She insists on going to the ranch that night in spite of Steve's advice. She meets Gwen Collins, Jake's daughter, who shows a proprietary attitude toward Steve, though he refuses her invitation to dinner and drives Anne to her ranch. She wins over old Tim Salter, her uncle's foreman.

INSTALMENT VI.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

Anne ran up the steps, Shep at her heels.

"He really did love my uncle," Anne mused with understanding sympathy as Steve stood beside her on the top step.

"That was a real victory, Anne," Steve's eyes were on her profile with a deep impenetrable look. "I wouldn't have taken a hundred to one bet that you could win Tim over so soon."

Anne smiled up at him, flushing with quick color as she caught his expression.

She pulled open the door. An involuntary shudder rippled over her at the rush of damp, stagnant air that greeted them. She resolutely ignored it and went inside to take stock of her new home.

"Anne! You can't stay here!"

The room was nearly square. It had a low, log beamed ceiling and a huge stone fireplace at one end.

The whole place was in the utmost disorder. Papers from the desk were strewn over the floor and various articles of clothing were pitched haphazard here and there. On the table stood evidences of a hasty meal, the dishes cluttered over to one side. One or two were broken on the floor, as though they had been shoved away by an impatient hand.

The only orderly spot in the room was the gun rack, which was on the wall opposite the door, facing them. With the exception of one vacant niche every weapon was in place.

Anne started out of her trance.

"No!" Her voice was low but determined. "I'm going to stay. I'll bring some pillows out on this hammock on the porch. I won't try to sleep inside tonight. Then tomorrow ——"

"Anne, you're crazy!" Steve exploded. "You've no idea how cold the nights are here! There's no sense starting out to run your ranch with a case of pneumonia!"

"I'll wrap up warmly," Anne insisted. "Please don't try to dissuade me, Steve. My mind is made up. I have a sort of feeling that I must take possession tonight! If I run away now from a personal discomfort I'm beaten before I start. Please understand!" She gave him a pleading smile. "Don't think me ungrateful, but I have to stay."

For a long moment Steve looked deeply into her eyes.

"I know what hunches are," he conceded at last. "If you've got that hunch I suppose there's nothing for you to do but follow it."

"Let's look at the rest of the house and know the worst," Anne suggested. She crossed the room and pushed open a door which opened on the end of a hallway.

Two bedrooms led out from it, both in even worse disorder than the living room. Coming back to the living room they went through the swinging door that led to the kitchen. In marked contrast to the rest of the house, the kitchen was in perfect order except for one or two pans in the sink.

There was a pall of dust over everything, but aside from that there was no sign of that strange upheaval that marked the other rooms.

"I forget what I was going to stay," Steve evaded lamely.

"No you don't," Anne challenged. "You were going to say exactly the same thing I'm thinking. It looks as though there'd been some sort of foul play!" Her voice trembled and her eyes flashed. "Just how did my uncle die? I've never heard."

"He died of heart failure," Steve answered. "Reckon that was straight enough. Tim found him here one morning after he'd come in from spending the night in town. The Old Man had been here alone. Doc Bryant passed on it as heart failure, all right."

"If the kitchen was in the same state as the rest of the house I'd just think he was careless about how he lived," Anne mused, "but everything out here is so neat that I can't see any reason for the other rooms looking the way they do. I ——"

A call from outside broke in on Anne's speculations. With a thoughtful, preoccupied air she followed Steve out the back door and over to the mess shack.

Everything here was in order. Tim had knocked together an appetizing supper of bacon and eggs and flapjacks. A delicious aroma of coffee pervaded the place.

"Umm! But that smells good!" Anne looked inquiringly from the two places set on the long wooden table to Tim. "Aren't you having supper with us?"

Tim nodded. "He was the only one of the outfit that didn't go stampedin' off at the first hint of trouble. Whitey and I've been running a ten man outfit here on our own."

"That was great of you both!" Anne declared impulsively. "I hope Whitey will stay on with me, too."

Tim shrugged. "Search me! We've both been kind of fed up, but I reckon yuh can make him see it in another light."

"Tell me," her voice had a breathless catch as she brought out the question that was uppermost in her mind, "how does the house happen to be in such an awful mess? Not that I'm blaming you," she hastened to add as a look of resentful withdrawal clouded Tim's eyes, "but what did you mean about an investigation? It seems so queer! Was my uncle a very untidy person?"

"He was not." Tim ignored the first question. "Do you want to hear the notions I entertain about that night?" he asked.

"Indeed I do." Anne fixed her eyes on him with intent seriousness.

"Well, it was this way. I'd gone in town on my monthly leave. I reckon I was hittin' it up pretty high, wide, and handsome. Anyway, I surmised it'd be a heap more sensible for me to spend the night in town and come out first thing in the morning. When I got out here somethin' made me stop in here at the house 'stead of headin' straight for the bunkhouse."

He paused and his lips twitched. "I found him there on the floor. The place was in the mess yuh see now. He'd been dead some hours, but there wasn't a mark on him. I noticed, though, that one of his rifles was out of the rack. That struck me queer, because the Old Man took mighty good care of his guns. They were his one extravagance. On account of him being stocky and square shouldered, with a neck shorter than most, he had his guns made to order, with a special stock, almost straight, without a drop.

"He was plumb proud of the wood of the grip, too; ordered it special of that shiny walnut. I looked around for that missing rifle, but there w s nary a sign of it, and it ain't showed up to this day. I sent a couple of the boys high tailin' it in for the sherif and the doctor. Then I shut the door and left everything just the way it was, because I figured the mess t'ings was in was mighty suspicious."

When you make jams and jellies with commercial bottled or powdered pectin, the process is entirely different from that used with plain fruits and sugar.

In the first place, you're directed to squeeze the jelly bag when using added pectin. This never is done ordinarily, as it results in cloudy jelly. Makers of commercial pectins admit that jellies aren't quite as sparkling when the jelly bag is squeezed, but they think economy and a saving in time warant the practice.

Much more sugar is used in proportion to juice or fruit and juice in making jellies and jams with pectin, but a larger volume is gained at the same time.

My personal feeling is that commercial pectins should be used only for jams and jellies which won't jell of themselves. I'd never use pectin with currants, gooseberries, plums, raspberries, or apples. But I think it's wonderful for peaches, blueberries, elderberries, and other nonjellable fruits. Some cooks like to use it in all of their preserving, simply because it assures good results.

I helped to judge a "cook-off" contest at the Peoples Gas company last week. The winning cook had a breakfast of ham, eggs, coffee, and toast ready in seven minutes, thirty-five seconds. How close could you come to that?

There was so much masculine interest in the affair that those in charge were talking of sponsoring a cook-off for men. That would be something worth watching!

There's a new "vitamin" bread on the market. It's made with stone-ground rye flour, and a bottle of beer goes into each loaf. The maker claims great health promoting properties for it. It resembles pumpernickel.

Salting the outside of poultry before roasting it is almost a useless operation, reports the home economics department of the Institute of American Poultry Industries. It tends to blister the skin, and penetration through the skin is very slight. But salt your chicken well inside, before putting the stuffing into it.

Ever try an omelet with one of these fillings: Asparagus tips, freshly cooked peas, braised endive, grated cheese, chopped buttered spinach, diced ham, creamed shrimp, chopped pepers in tomato sauce, minced chicken, and mushrooms? Or with fruit preserves, stewed fruits, fresh fruits, or cream fillings? . . . Ever serve tiny baking powder cheese biscuits the size of the hole in the doughnuts along with a tray of appetizers?

A chocolate topped custard pie is yummy. As soon as your plain custard pie has baked, pour over it a mixture of one square chocolate, melted, plus two tablespoons hot water and two tablespoons sugar. Return to the oven at 300 degrees to set the chocolate, seven to ten minutes longer. Be sure temperature doesn't go higher, or the custard filling may be overcooked. Try this on a caramel custard pie some time.

Sleek Lines for All Black

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Stylists predict sleek lines and the unrelieved beauty of black fabrics for fall. Touches of shirring here and there relieve the designs of stiffness, and femininity is the watchword. We think our pattern today fits in with the forecast perfectly. It's an exquisite model in black and other dark shades. The shoulderline is part of the long panel that extends the length of the dress. The side panels are given shirring at the waistline, to adapt the garment to figure curves. The sleeves are puffed to give a broadened shoulder effect. The same paneling that gives the frock such distinction also contributes flare to the hemline. A slide fastener furnishes the closing in the bodice.

This pattern also makes up well in prints, as illustrated in the sketch at the right. In this version the frock has a collar on the rather high V neckline, and a bouquet of posies lends a feminine touch.

Style No. 3414 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material.

Inland Lakes Regatta to Be Held Next Week.

Practically the entire summer colony at Lake Geneva will be departing tomorrow morning for Neenah, Wis., where the Inland Lakes Yachting association will hold its annual regatta next week. The first race will be sailed on Monday and the last on Friday.

The A. F. Gartz family is sending two motor launches to Lake Winnebago so that those members of the family who do not sail, and their guests, may enjoy the regatta. Charles White of New York, who has been visiting in the Gartz home in Lake Geneva for two weeks, will go north with Mr. and Mrs. Gartz and their children, Gloria, Frederick, and Gail. Mr. Gartz's Big Foot Too will be one of the seven A boats entered. His crew consists of himself, Henry H. Porter, E. W. Colman, Bob Calloway, and Bob Reily. Gloria Gartz's C boat will be sailed in the regatta by her cousin, Bobby Crane, and Brent Starck.

Other large boats that will be entered from Lake Geneva are Daniel Peterkin Jr.'s Snipe, Robert Tarrant's Nais III., Philip Starck's Stop, Jack Vilas' Junior, Ernest C. Schmidt's Black Point III., and Harry Gifford's Little Smoke III.

Barbara Wakeley, who usually sails her Skip-Along, will attend the regatta with her parents, the Arthur W. Wakeleys, and will be one of a crew in another boat in the C boat races.

Put Soft Pedal on Cleverness to Win Husband

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Sally is a fine, all round type of girl who is very popular with men. But she never seems to get married. She is attractive, clever, amusing. She is good at sports, in fact better than some of her men friends. At the office, she is always getting raises. She can cook delicious dinners. Indeed, she does everything extra well. You would think she would make a splendid wife.

Men like her company. They like to take her out. But when one of her men friends begins to think of marriage, he turns to some plain little creature, some simple little thing without any talents at all. And usually the marriage turns out a very happy one.

The truth is that from a distance men like a woman with abilities. They are eager to meet her. They are proud to have other people see them taking her around. But let the relationship get closer and tenderer. It is then that the man begins to feel dwarfed by the girl's superiorities. A man likes friendship with an equal, but when it comes to love, he wants some one who'll look up to him.

A very superior man with a lot of self-confidence can take a woman's success in his stride. But if the man is the least bit doubtful of himself, he needs the reassurance of looking down.

When friendship begins turning into love, it behooves the clever girl to soft-pedal her abilities. Then the man wants to feel as masculine and superior as possible. How can he if she beats him at tennis, outplays him at bridge, outsmarts him in wisecracks and get a raise at the office long before he gets his?

A man in love wants the thrill of protecting "the little woman." He would almost rather drown than have her be a better swimmer and rescue him. He would rather walk five miles to a garage than have her tell him all the car needs is gasoline.

To be really clever, a woman should hide her cleverness—at least while romance is blossoming. Unless she wants to end her days with people saying, "It's funny Sally never married, isn't it?"

The Housewife

A huge, black electric fan may seem out of place in a bedroom. Therefore we congratulate the designers of attractive fans for this room. They are finished in enamel in just the pretty, light pastel colors you'll use in draperies, bedspreads, etc. You can choose from turquoise blue, light green, light yellow, cream white, or red.

These fans are light weight enough to be carried quite easily. They are practically silent, and their price is certainly reasonable. They run on alternating current. EDITH WEIGLE.

CAKE ON THE RANGE

By CALEB

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY," said the letters on top of the big, white cake that began its journey recently from our Colonial Cake Counter to Rocking Horse Ranch in distant Wyoming.

That cake was a sight to behold as it was set in a big carton with yard after yard of tissue wrapping carefully prepared to see it safely on a journey that began by airplane and ended in an express truck, ninety miles from the nearest railway.

This was the second time someone at Rocking Horse Ranch has had a Marshall Field cake as a birthday gift. The first one went two years ago, setting some sort of a record for distance in birthday cake shipments by arriving intact at the ranch in spite of bumpy mountain roadways and hard going en route.

Both cakes were the handiwork of a skilled veteran in our bakeries who accomplishes wonders with creamy frostings on many a cake in honor of special occasions. His two works of art destined for Wyoming consumption were much alike—by request. On top of a big, round, white silver cake of three layers an elaborate floral pattern was executed. Delicately formed flowers in pink, blue, green and yellow formed a bouquet inches high. Shell-thin petals stood out in masterful detail—one wondered how they could possibly survive so long a journey.

But the packing division knew exactly how to proceed. Since the first cake reached Wyoming intact, the same technique was followed. Corrugated paper protected the inner, shock absorbent cocoon of tissue carefully spun about the luscious disc. Light enough by itself, the cake and its wrappings weighed nearly twelve pounds. The man who made it was loth to leave the packing to any one else, and hovered about until it was finally to his satisfaction.

Returning to his oven and his tables, he began work on a tripiedecked creation for a wedding soon to occur. He surveyed the newly baked and still unadorned cakes with a critical eye, talking softly to himself, plotting the scheme of the decorations still to come. We tiptoed away, vowing to investigate later the result of his deliberations.

3 MORE FESTIVAL SINGERS ON SOUTH SIDE ARE CHOSEN

City Team of 18 Is Ready to Meet County.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

Three more young southsiders sang their way to acclaim last night in the Chicago Woman's club. Their selection completed Chicago's team of eighteen amateur singers who will challenge Cook county's winning vocalists Tuesday night in the grand ballroom of the Drake hotel. The winners of that contest will be soloists at the Chicagoland Music festival in Soldiers' field next Saturday night.

The first of the three chosen last night is a pretty brunette who sang three times and apparently was the only person in the auditorium who wasn't sure she'd win first place. She is Miss Rosemary Enright, 8129 South Paulina street, 20 years old, a recent graduate of St. Xavier college. She is looking for a job, and if its recommendation she needs, the judges, Kathryn Witwer, William Wilson Mount, and Alice Terrell were willing to be quoted. She was magnificent, they declared.

Singing Secretary Best Mezzo.

In the mezzo group, Miss Gretchen Cox won first place with her thrilling "Spring Song" by Mackenzie. Miss Cox, who lives at 5819 Blackstone, is a secretary, a dark haired girl who credits hard work and eagerness with her success. She won third place in last year's south side contest.

David Anderson, 6 feet 4 inches tall, a truck driver, sang Gounod's "Vulcan's Song" to win bass honors. He is 28 years old, married, and has a small son. Anderson lives at 7401 West 62d street, Argo, where, he declares, everybody up and down the street has heard him singing as he works. He directs the Nazarene church choir there.

Second and third places in the soprano division were won by Miss Cathryn Caligari, 444 East 86th street, whose hopes are pinned on the Metropolitan opera, and Miss Jeannette Muriel Poulsen, 7250 Langley street. Miss Poulsen was first place winner in last year's soprano contest, and placed third in the Cook county finals.

Cherish High Ambitions.

In the mezzo group Miss Isabel Gilliland, a pink-cheeked brunette, won second honors. She was born in Ireland 19 years ago. She listed her vocation as "home girl," but she, too, looks yearningly at the operatic stage. Miss Phyllis Schwehm, 850 East 64th place, sang Friml's "Allah's Holliday" and placed third. She is a tiny girl, almost frail, but her size does not deter her concert ambition. "Look at Lily Pons," she counters. "How big is she?"

Irving Davidson, 5459 Ingleside avenue, 21 years old, won second place in the bass group. He is a soloist at Temple Emmanuel on the north side, and has appeared on several radio programs. He won third place last year in the same division. Bob Miller, a hotel cashier, sang for fun last night and won third place in the bass section. He is 21 years old and lives at 764 Oakwood boulevard.

Winners Get Many Offers.

As a result of their sectional honors several of the winners already have had offers for public appearances. Five of the six west side winners will sing tomorrow evening in the first Greater West Side association festival at the Garfield park bandstand. Three of the Cook county finalists will sing for the Rotary club Tuesday noon.

This year's auditions have produced many young voices of great promise, Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler, festival chairman, believes. "We've had two new things this year," she said, "an abundance of beauty in youthful voices, and fine, appreciative audiences to encourage them."

REPORT NEW USE OF DRUG TO TREAT VENEREAL CASES

The successful use of the drug sulfanilamide in the treatment of lymphogranuloma, a veneral disease, was reported yesterday in the August issue of the Illinois Medical Journal. Dr. George Shropshear, Provident hospital proctologist and Municipal Social Hygiene clinician, said he had used the drug with good results in nine cases. Lymphogranuloma is often more destructive than gonorrhea.

The disease was not identified as distinct from other venereal ailments until 1931, Dr. Shropshear reported. What causes it is still unknown. While not as common as syphilis or gonorrhea, he said, cases are frequently seen in venereal disease clinics. Previous methods of treatment, he said, have failed to halt the disease's gradual destruction of tissue until the patient is disabled or dead.

Readers' Digest, U. S. Monthly, Barred by Nazis

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The secret police today banned Readers' Digest [monthly United States publication] indefinitely from Germany and all foreign translations and editions of Kurt Schuschnigg's book Dreimal Oesterreich ["My Austria," by the former Austrian chancellor], the Official Gazette said today. No reason for the banning of the Readers' Digest could be learned, but it was presumed jokes considered by the Nazis as anti-German in the August issue of the magazine were the cause.

U. of I. Alumni Select 3 as Trustee Candidates

An alumni committee of the University of Illinois yesterday chose three candidates whose names will be presented to the Republican state convention for nomination for trustees of the university. They are Albert I. Appleton, Evanston; Frank H. McKelvey, Springfield, and Frank M. White, Rockford. McKelvey and White were nominated by the 1936 state convention, but were defeated in the election. The convention will be held in Peoria Aug. 31.

CITY FILES NEW PLEA WITH WPA FOR LAND SURVEY

The city yesterday filed a new application for a complete land use survey of Chicago with the Works Progress administration. The project would cost $2,453,028, of which $106,400 would be furnished by the city. The plan provides for the employment of 3,095 men and women for ten months.

The city's cash contribution would be $27,600. It would contribute the rest of its share in office rental, materials, and office machines and skilled supervisors from the regular pay rolls.

The survey would include an inventory of all real estate. It would yield information on the various uses of all land in Chicago, showing the type, condition, age, and occupancy of all buildings.

This information would be used by the Chicago plan commission and other civic organizations. Experts have recommended the survey as the first step needed to rehabilitate run-down areas.

JAMES W. CRABB FACES PERJURY TRIAL SEPT. 19

Crabb, who is a banker's son, also is under indictment on a charge of manslaughter. He was tried on this indictment last spring, but the jury could not agree on whether he killed his wife, and it was discharged June 11.

The perjury charge, State's Attorney Rayburn Russell of Tazewell county said, was based on two conflicting stories Crabb told about the death of his bride, whom he married only five weeks before.

ILLINOIS TOWNS GET $670,804 IN FEDERAL GRANTS

Eight Illinois PWA grants totaling $670,804 have received final approval in Washington, the regional office of the Public Works administration announced yesterday. They are $231,750 for four 2,000,000 gallon water reservoirs in Rock Island; $169,363, paving, De Kalb county; $114,545, sewer drainage and disposal improvements, Peru; $20,454, city hall, Litchfield; $20,454, remodeling of Perry county courthouse, Pinckneyville; $106,363, remodeling of Garfield grade school, Monmouth; $4,500, new cell blocks and lighting and heating plant in the police station, Joliet, and $3,375 for farm, shop, and garbage equipment in the high school, Potomac.

ACCUSE UNWED MOTHER, 26, OF KIDNAPING CHILD

The New City police were searching yesterday for an unmarried mother, Miss Helen Taverian, 26 years old. She is accused of kidnaping her own daughter, Sandra May, 2½ years old. In 1937 the baby was adopted in the County court by Miss Taverian's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taverian of 2515 West 46th street. The mother called at her brother's home on July 30 to see the baby. The Taverians left during the evening and when they returned the young mother and the baby were gone. Mrs. Taverian then obtained a kidnaping warant in the Felony court.

BOOKS

Saga of Great Railroad and 4 Men Behind It

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Big Four," by Oscar Lewis. [Knopf, $4.50.] Published Monday.

The life stories of California's most spectacular early citizens and the saga of a great railroad make "The Big Four" an interesting panel of American history. The names of three of them are perpetuated by famous public institutions.

The Huntington library and art gallery, "one of the most princely gifts in history," keeps green the name of Collis P. Huntington. But the Huntington in these pages is no amateur of the arts and no openhearted lover of mankind. He was ruthless not only in his relations with his enemies, but with those with whom he purported to be friends. He was the most powerful of the "big four."

Leland Stanford, who founded Leland Stanford Jr. university, in memory of his son, was their public front, according to Mr. Lewis. He was civil wartime governor of California and later a senator. His political success was important to the railroad, but always there was warfare between him and Huntington and the wreck of his fortune was finally brought about by his partners.

Charles Crocker, whose name lives in the Crocker Museum of Art, personally supervised the building of the railroad and devised the idea of importing Chinese coolies. He was the first of the four to "get culture."

These three were all gigantic men physically. The fourth, Mark Hopkins, the "money man," had a lean and hungry look, and for years after his partners had achieved a medieval magnificence in their backgrounds, he continued to live modestly in a cottage and to grow his own vegetables in the back yard. But when he burst forth he dazzled even ennuied San Francisco. And he left his wife "the richest widow in the world."

David B. Colton, the ½ of a popular fraction of the time, "The Big 4½," was indirectly responsible for the eventual shadowing of the reputation of Huntington, when his widow brought suit against Huntington for fraud.

The fantastic lives of these five, and of Theodore Rohene Judah, the engineer who worked his whole short life long for a transcontinental railroad, are interwoven with romance and buccaneering history.

Simple Everyday Lives Given a Tender Reality.

Dorothy Aldis has a special gift for giving simple everyday lives and their daily trials and happinesses a tender reality . . . a gift, incidentally, which has become more and more skillful with her each succeeding essay in "homey" fiction.

"All the Year Round" is the best of her novels. It tells of a few days in the life of a middle aged woman [the "dull life," her heroine feels]. Mrs. Conover's oldest child has written that he is coming home from college, but offers no reason why; her older daughter is involved with a young man who has only recently recovered from tuberculosis and who is living riotously; Mrs. Conover's husband has been "drinking," and her younger daughter is at the hulking adolescent stage where everything and everybody is "dopey."

Each of the characters is an individual [the husband the least vivid] and alive. So, too, are the two homes of the Conovers, the old-fashioned, not too convenient town apartment and the great old house in the country where Mrs. Conover goes on a happy binge of housecleaning to be summoned back to face tangible and not merely problematical difficulties. Mrs. Conover is the sort of woman that women readers love and her family and its problems are everybody's.

Several Factors Make This a Fine Mystery.

"Murder in Newport," by Gerard Lambert. [Scribner's, $2.]

"Murder in Newport" is one of the best mysteries we have read for months. The clews are all fair and square, the murders [two] are ingeniously done, and one of them involves a device which to my knowledge has not been used to date in crime fiction. The amateur sleuth's deductions are intelligent and in accord with the way that sort of person's mind would work, and the background is convincing.

When Roger Vardon, the sleuth, talks about oriental rugs he calls them by their right names. When Jerry describes the hoisting of morning colors in the yacht club basin, the reader feels with him a thrill at the impressive sight. When they walk down that quaint, narrow main street of the town of Newport, the "feel" of the old place is in the author's sentences.

There is no fine writing, no vaulting phrasing, just a gift for sure, succinct description, and for the reader a certainty that the author knows what and where he is writing about. And best of all, the reader has no feeling, as so often happens even in the best mystery tales, that the author has, for most of the book, just been taking him for a ride.

Studies in 'The Founding of American Civilization.'

Prof. Wertenbaker's research into the interplay of cultural forces in the Middle Colonies will interest architects, students of manners, antiquarians, and religious scholars as well as historians. For, as he says, each of the national strains which colonized New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware brought with it a distant culture and clung to it stubbornly. Continued intercourse with the homeland accentuated these differences, but local conditions of soil, climate, and communication, and contact with other alien groups—the first seethings of the American melting pot—worked to alter and suppress these folkways.

As touchstones of the survival and alteration of these national characteristics, Prof. Wertenbaker has given most of his attention to church and domestic architecture, religious sectarianism, and domestic arts and crafts. Most of his work has been done in a relatively untilled field. Excellent photographs help to point his comments on the evolution of these European styles into ones common today. R. P. MacF.

Here's Some Practical Advice for the Elderly.

"We, the Too Old," by Patience James. [Christopher, $1.25.]

To men and women over 65 Mrs. Patience James offers her philosophy of life. "How to be happy, active, and useful in that 'last of life for which the first was made,' this is the message I would give," she says.

Instead of complete mental and physical relaxation, instead of thinking about death, the author urges the elderly to keep their minds occupied with world affairs, with worthwhile books, with plans for further education.

For renewed interest in life she advises budgeting of time, participation in some group effort, work, travel, proper diet, and the study of a worthy cause. For those who are not financially independent she offers a number of practical suggestions for earning small incomes. E. W.

Munro Leaf, who demonstrated in "Ferdinand" how delightful madness can be, mingles it here with ten tons of common sense and a sheaf of statistics on the female job situation in New York. He misses nothing, from room rent to hosiery mending, with a little side advice on chances of finding your man.

The book is divided into the three annoyingly true classifications of beauty, brainy, and nice, with jobs for each. Beauty is just what you think. Brainy includes advertising, publishing, store executives, and such leftovers as radio, decorating, and art. Nice includes all the rest.

Mr. Leaf goes into unglamorous detail about salaries and occupational headaches, such as salesgirl's feet. He concludes by adding that social life is just what you make it and that 29,250 marriage licenses were issued in New York last year.

The result is a book that could be studied profitably by any little girl—or any big one—who is looking wistfully toward any big city. M. W.

"The Historical Nights Entertainment," by Rafael Sabatini. [Houghton-Mifflin, $2.50.]

Twelve dramatic episodes in the lives of famous men and women are given in this book, the third of a series by Rafael Sabatini, popular historical raconteur. As in his previous writings, he displays his flair for the colorful, the mounting of events to big, crashing scenes. Among the stories are those of Queen Elizabeth and Essex, Henry VIII. and Anne Boleyn, Queen Christine of Sweden and Monaldeschi, and Jane Grey and the scheming relatives who led her to tragedy. Fact and fiction are engrossingly woven. S. M. K.

New Adventure of Adventurous Peter Freuchen

BY WILL O'NEIL.

"It's All Adventure," by Peter Freuchen. [Farrar & Rinehart, $3.50.]

Peter Freuchen has a magnificent conceit. He is so sure of himself that he can be sincerely natural and brutally frank.

"Old Peter" seems to see everything through eyes focused by years of living in Greenland. The details—and mighty interesting ones they were—of his life in Denmark's colony were recorded in "Arctic Adventure." In his latest book bearded Peter fastens his eye on civilization. Civilization comes out second best.

Money didn't mean much in northern Greenland. There wasn't anything to buy. So Peter was confounded by money when he returned to Denmark in 1924, but not too confounded to go after it. He got money, rats on his Island of Enehje, a beautiful wife, the job of editing an oleomargarine magazine, and a job in Hollywood. His wife didn't like stale fish when he took her back to Greenland, but Peter is at his best when talking about the scenes which will prove most popular in hot weather. Too bad that Peter didn't tell more about his job of movie making—one suspects that will be another book—but certainly he tells all else.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-American football squad had its first drill yesterday afternoon in Dyche stadium in preparation for its encounter with the Washington Redskins in THE TRIBUNE'S fifth annual All-Star game in Soldiers' field on Aug. 31. Bo McMillen, head coach of the college All-Star squad, and his assistants have ordered a double drill for today.

The first workout this morning will be held at 9:30, but the time of the afternoon session depends on the weather. It may be postponed until 4:30 or even at late as 5 o'clock if the weather is too warm.

"I do not believe in having the boys drill more than three or three and a half hours each day," McMillin said yesterday in a brief discussion of his plans. "And while this time may be divided in two workouts, the boys must stick to the program if we are to develop a team that can match the pro champions."

Other Coaches Arrive.

Coach A. J. Robertson of Bradley and Harry Kipke, formerly of Michigan, were present for the first drill. Ducky Pond of Yale arrived later in the day, having driven Thursday from New Haven to Buffalo, taken a boat to Detroit, and then continued to Chicago. Notre Dame's Elmer Layden, ready to begin his third term as an all-star assistant coach, telephoned he would report for the first drill this morning.

The coaches were highly pleased at the turnout for yesterday's drill, which consisted principally of limbering up exercises, kicking, and passing. Fifty-six boys had checked in at the Hinman and Goodrich houses by lunch time and had visited Dyche stadium, where equipment was issued by Carl Erickson, Northwestern's trainer, who again will have charge of the physical condition of the All-Americans. Others reported in the afternoon.

Leroy Monsky Reports.

Leroy Monsky, Alabama guard, was one of the late arrivals. He reached Chicago at 9:50 last night and it was close to midnight before Rut Walter, Northwestern freshman track coach, who supervises the All-Americans' quarters, had him tucked away in bed. Felix Dixon, tackle, and Gary Famiglietti, full back of Boston university, checked in mid-afternoon. Their arrival left Yale's center, Fran-

REDSKINS PUT FIRE INTO THEIR OPENING DRILLS

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ballston, Va., Aug. 12.—Search for a running back capable of replacing the retired Cliff Battles and that elusive something that has prevented the professionals from achieving a decisive victory in the Tribune's All Star series was begun here today by the world champion Washington Redskins.

Led by the incomparable Sammy Baugh and Capt. Turk Edwards, 260 pounds of all-national league tackle, thirty-nine Redskins hustled through two spirited practices as the opening gestures of their training for the game in Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 31.

Only Two Missing.

Only two members of the squad were missing when Coach Ray Flaherty called the roll. Bill Hartman, a newcomer from Georgia, who will be given a chance at Battle's half back position, was signed late and he will arrive Monday. Monday also has been fixed as the deadline for Bill Moore, a former North Carolina end. Moore played with the Los Angeles Bulldogs last season and is motoring from the west.

Henry (Red) Krause, veteran center who had been reported missing and unaccounted for last night, was seated at the breakfast table when the squad came down this morning. His arrival saved him a fine of $10 a day, assessed each man under contract whose excuse for tardiness does not impress Flaherty.

Baugh Shows How to Pass.

Today's sessions were curtailed to permit newsreel companies and a dozen newspaper photographers to make pictures. Baugh, Wayne Millner, and Malone were excused from the afternoon workout to judge a passing contest on The Ellipse behind the White House. Four thousand school boys competed, then watched Baugh give a passing demonstration which included dropping the ball into a barrel at thirty yards and hitting a dozen bushel baskets placed on a line 20 yards down the field.

At the end of the day's work, Flaherty expressed himself as satisfied with the condition of the squad. Each man reported with a deep coat of tan and revealed the effects of preliminary preparation ordered by Flaherty. It will be possible, Flaherty said, to start rough work next week.

Early Mass.

Early week-day mass, an inspiration,
Kneeling quietly in their same old places

Almost done with all the world's demandings,
For most of them the years are very few—
There they're kneeling at this early service,

Just this side of heaven they are waiting
For that hour that comes to every one,
Quiet hope upon their calm old faces,
The peace that comes to one when work is done.

I like to think of them not going westward
Into the sunset, all their labors done,
But rather walking eastward to the morning,
—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

Those Other Years.

Since you were just a little girl
How rapidly the years have passed,
And often does my heart regret

A little lass with golden hair,
You took my hand and smiled at me,
And did not know I said a prayer.

You played with dolls, and then you learned
To roller skate and ride a bike,
You added swimming to the list
Of many things you grew to like.

And thus I watched you moving up
A tall and slender girl replaced
The little one I could not find.

You bring to me so much of joy
As side by side we travel on,
But yet I cannot help recall
Those other years that now are gone.

SEABISCUIT WINS BUT BOTH JOCKIES ARE SUSPENDED

Del Mar, Cal., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Seabiscuit and Ligaroti met in a sensational race at a mile and an eighth here today, and while Seabiscuit won by a head, much mystery attended the $25,000 match.

The jockies, George Woolf on Seabiscuit and Noel Richardson aboard the South American horse, were suspended until further notice. And, it was announced, the stewards will hold a meeting tomorrow morning.

Believe Complaint Made.

The stewards ruled the race official, with a new track record of 1:49. Ligaroti took a nose lead over C. S. Howard's big money winner soon after the start and was in the lead most of the way. For the last half mile both horses were under the whip, close together, near the rail.

Both jockies went to the stand immediately after the race and it looked as if Richardson complained that Woolf leg-locked him. But the stewards promptly announced that nothing would be said about it all until after tomorrow's hearing.

Crowd Likes Result.

Seabiscuit, 5 year old son of Hardtack, takes the $25,000 to add to his past winnings for a total of $319,205, but it was no great victory over the 6 year old South American horse. Last February Seabiscuit was forty-five lengths ahead of Ligaroti and in July went six and a half lengths ahead.

Twenty thousand cheering spectators, 5,000 more than the previous record crowd at the track here, found intense satisfaction in the result. There was no public money wagered.

Pitcher Ferrell Given Release by Washington

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Pitcher Wesley Ferrell, one of the highest paid players on the squad, was given his unconditional release by the Washington Senators today. Owner Clark Griffith said waivers had been received from all other teams.

Ferrell had won thirteen games this season, but he failed to show any great effectiveness and some of the triumphs were due to the success of relief pitchers. He completed only nine games. Despite eight defeats, Ferrell was the leading pitcher on the club. Owner Griffith explained that he wanted to continue his policy of building with young players.

Ferrell came to the Senators with his brother Rick from the Boston Red Sox in 1937. The Senators gave Boston Pitcher Buck Newsom and Outfielder Ben Chapman for the Ferrell brothers and Outfielder Mel Almada.

Party of Four Goes to Races; Divides $2,000

John E. Edge, 1520 Elmwood avenue, Wilmette, picked the first seven winners at Washington Park yesterday afternoon to share in a prize of $2,000. The winners to deliver for Edge were Nana Kate at $9.60 in the first, Busse Trumpet at 7 to 5 in the second, Rich Cream, the favorite, in the third; Fanfern at nearly 17 to 1 in the fourth, which won after a disqualification; Chance Star, the favorite, in the fifth; Bonny Clabber, choice in the sixth, and Rich Girl, an overwhelming favorite, in the seventh.

Although his selections won the $2,000 prize, Handicapper Edge got only $500 of the prize. He went to the races for the afternoon with three friends. Each agreed to make one set of selections. If there was a winner in the crowd the prize was to be divided four ways.

FLORIDA LIFTS SUSPENSION ON JOCKY MEADE

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Florida state racing commission today lifted the suspension which had grounded Jocky Don Meade since March 4, 1936. Ruled off all the tracks in this country for betting on horses other than those he rode, Meade told the commission today he was broke and badly in need of work. The reinstatement is effective Dec. 19, 1938.

WHITE SOX LOSE TO INDIANS, 12-9; WIN SECOND, 6-5

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Out of a batch of heroic activity the White Sox were able to extract one victory yesterday from a prolonged double-header session with Cleveland's Indians who are gradually giving up on their pennant ideas. The Sox were nosed out in the first encounter, 12 to 9, in ten innings despite two noble rallies, but they made amends for this in the next engagement when they slapped across a run in the ninth to triumph, 6 to 5.

In the first game the Sox intrigued a Ladies' day crowd of 20,000 by splurges which once tied the score with four runs in the fourth and again with five runs in the eighth. All this was necessary because of the feebleness of Old Ted Lyons who got away to a bad start and never recovered. The last blast against the veteran came in the eighth, a few minutes before the Sox got busy and created another deadlock, but with Lyons removed there had to be a successor. The assignment fell to Rookie Harry Boyles and he was solidly dented by three decisive runs.

The second affair was exactly the reverse. The Sox twice handed John Rigney a lead, both of which he lost. The second of these set backs came in the seventh when the home grown rookie was plied for three runs. Dennis Galehouse, the Rigney opponent, managed to maintain this deadlock until the ninth, which Kreevich opened with a single to center. Later he went to second on Kuhel's sacrifice. Then Norm Schlueter, hungrier than most of the spectators who had already departed, lined a single over short to score Kreevich with the deciding run.

FIRST GAME

Lyons was touched for only two hits in the opening inning of the first game, but they were of a solid variety. After Lary had started the battle with a foul into Kuhel's hands, Campbell doubled to right center. Hale flied to Kreevich, but Heath's fly was such a healthy affair that it continued to travel until it had deposited itself in the right field pavilion for two runs.

The Indians increased their lead to four runs in the second inning, but this might not have happened if Berger hadn't experienced a case of the shakes. Lyons invited a tremblor by walking Trosky, who was forced by Keltner. Pytlak grounded toward second, but Berger fumbled, Keltner taking third, whence he scored on Harder's fly to Kreevich. Lyons was annoyed to such extent by Berger's miscue that he walked Lary. Campbell ripped off a single to right, Pyt-

MAKE SIXTEEN HITS; BILL LEE YIELDS SEVEN

Hack Knocks Homer with One On.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 12.—The Cubs didn't fool this afternoon as they went about the business of shaving the Pirates' pennant lead to 6½ games. The score was 9 to 3 for the Chicagoans and especially encouraging phases of the game were found in the fact the Cubs hammered out sixteen hits of all varieties and Bill Lee returned to winning ways after a victory famine which had existed on the entire road trip up till today.

Let us speak first of the defense. Lee held the mighty Pirates to seven hits, two of which were scratches due to confusion around first base. Three of the hits, including the two scratches, were by Lloyd Waner, who scored two of the Pirates' three runs. Lloyd's first single was followed by Brother Paul's double for the first run of the game, with two out in the third. Arky Vaughan wasted a single in the fourth. In the sixth L. Waner got his second scratch. Gus Suhr followed with a double and Vaughan a single to complete the Pirate run-making. L. Waner wasted a single in the eighth. There wasn't an error behind Lee.

The Cub Offensive.

And here's the way the Cub flood of hits poured forth: The first two, a single by Carl Reynolds in the second and a triple by Augie Galan in the fourth, were in vain. Gabby Hartnett's first double and a single by Frankie Demaree tied the score at one all in the fifth. After two were out in the sixth, Rip Collins walked, Galan singled for the second of his three hits, Reynolds tripled, and Hartnett doubled for three runs and a 4 to 1 lead.

In the seventh, Bill Jurges opened with the first of two hits and he scored on Hack's homer. Collins and Galan knocked singles later in the seventh, off Mace Brown, who replaced Jim Tobin after the Hack homer. In the ninth the Cubs did some socking purely for fun. Hack and Herman singled and got home on Collins' triple and Rip scored on a long fly by Reynolds.

The victory, which was Lee's fourteenth of the season, was only the fourth scored by the Cubs in eleven games with the Pirates. But it was the most encouraging affair the Cubs have enjoyed since they left home on the night of July 24. The team is convinced that if the Pirates can be pulled down the Giants will be disposed of without difficulty. The Giants, however, eked out a 1 to 0 victory over the Phillies today, to keep the Cubs from effecting a second-place tie.

Waners Go to Work.

There were two out before the Waner boys got busy on production in the third. Jurges threw out Tobin and Handley was thrown out on strikes. Herman came up with L. Waner's bouncer, but he found Collins out in the diamond rooting for Lee to cover first. Bill lost the race to the bag and Lloyd was credited with a single. Brother Paul promptly hit a double, scoring Lloyd.

The Cubs tied the score in the fifth before the Pirates' second double play nipped 'em. Hartnett led off with a double to left and he scored on Demaree's single to right. Jurges tapped to Tobin, who launched a double play. Tobin then threw out Lee. With two out in the sixth, Collins walked and reached third when Galan rammed a single past Handley. Reynolds followed with a triple to left center, scoring Collins and Galan. It was Carl's eighth hit in eleven times at bat. Hartnett knocked his second double in successive innings, scoring

Lightspur Likely Favorite in Juvenile Stake.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Racegoers experienced plenty of trouble last night while they attempted, not alone to pick the winners of the Prairie State stakes and Lakeside handicap that are to be renewed at Washington Park today, but at the same time to shake the name of the favorite out of the box.

The Prairie State stakes attracted an overnight field of thirteen 2 year olds. It is the first 2 year old stake run this year at Washington Park, and some of the fleetest juveniles that have raced here this season were named in the starting field.

It was believed that John Marsch's speedy son of Blue Larkspur, which he named Lightspur, would be the post time favorite at 3 to 1, with Woolford farm stable's Technician the second in line at 7 to 2. King ranch's Ciencia and the Kentucky youngsters, Bala Ormont and American Byrd, were others that were mustering backers.

$5,000 Prize Each Saturday.

This same Lassator is in the big field of sixteen that will strive for the Lakeside handicap. This race is at a mile. A splendid victory scored a few days ago by Sir Jim James likely will make the Detroit route runner the choice at 3 to 1, with Main Man from the barn of Rome Respass of Kentucky the next most stoutly backed at 7 to 2. Main Man is to be ridden by Kenneth McCombs, leading rider of the Washington Park meeting.

Amateur handicappers are going to get another chance to shoot at a $5,000 prize today. President Walter L. Gregory announced yesterday that regardless of how many picked the first seven winners on the first five racing days of each week, that there will be a minimum prize of $5,000 offered each Saturday afternoon. It goes to the person or persons selecting the most winners in the first seven races.

Chance Shot Wins Oak Ridge.

Chance Star a son of Chance Shot-Galloping Star won the Oak Ridge purse which featured yesterday's racing. He got to the front in the final strides to beat Charlie Cleary's colt, Jayfcee. The early pacemaker, Fantine, from Keeneland farm, hung on to be third.

Chance Star and Jayfcee were backed to the exclusion of all the others, each winding up at 2 to 1 in the betting. Chance Star ran the six furlongs in 1:13 4-5.

A pair of longshots hooked up in a bumping contest coming down the stretch in the seven furlong fourth race. Zorana, at 25 to 1, finished first and Fanfern was second. Soon after Zorana's number went up it was ordered down and the horse disqualified. This moved Fanfern into first place, made Cardarrone, the favorite, second and Gold Mesh third. Fanfern paid $35.80 for a $2 ticket.

The stewards blamed Zorana for the foul. They contended she bore in toward the rail, thus cutting Fanfern off. Jocky Pariso, in the saddle, was not blamed for the foul but Zorana was barred from starting for the remainder of the meeting.

ALICE MARBLE, DOROTHY BUNDY IN TENNIS FINALS

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—Alice Marble of Beverly Hills, Cal., America's No. 1 ranking woman tennis player, and Dorothy May Bundy, Santa Monica, Cal., advanced to the finals of the eastern grass courts tennis tournament today. Miss Marble won from Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, Cambridge, Mass., 10-8, 8-6, and Miss Bundy eliminated Mme. Sylvia Henrotin, France, 6-4, 5-7, 6-0, in the semi-final round.

In the men's singles competition, Bobby Riggs, Chicago, reached the semi-finals by defeating Ronald Lubin, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-2. Another Los Angeles player, Gene Mako, was eliminated by Wilmer Allison, 1-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Jack Kramer, Montebello, Cal., advanced to the semi-finals when Bryan Grant, Atlanta, Ga., was forced to withdraw. Grant collapsed twice yesterday before winning from Frank Guernsey and today physicians advised him to rest. The other semi-final berth went to Joe Hunt, Los Angeles. He beat Frankie Parker, 6-4, 6-4.

DON ARMSTRONG RESUMES TITLE DEFENSE TODAY

Plays Krutilla in District Amateur Golf.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Don Armstrong, big Aurora blond, will resume defense of his Chicago District Golf association amateur championship today over the No. 3 course of the Medinah Country club. The tournament, being conducted this year on a week-end basis, opened last Saturday and Sunday with the qualifying round and the first two rounds of match play.

Armstrong, who, as champion, did not have to qualify, won his first two matches last Sunday, but this morning will find another problem in Johnny Krutilla of Olympia Fields, former city amateur runner-up. If he should succeed in conquering Krutilla, Don will meet the winner of the second match, involving Art Doering of Westward-Ho, amateur leader in the 1938 national open, and Andy Anderson of Kenosha, in this afternoon's semi-finals.

Becka Opposes Hoerner.

Another battle in this morning's third round is promised by Jack Hoerner of North Shore, who won the qualifying medal last Saturday with 150, and Chuck Becka of Calumet. The fourth match of the morning round brings together two out of town entrants—Sid Salomon of St. Louis, runner-up in the tournament two years ago, and Jerry Frost of Kenosha.

Chicago's oldest annual golf event—the thirty-fourth Chicago city amateur tournament—will open Monday at the Jackson Park Golf club, 64th street and Stony Island avenue. A field of more than 150 players is entered. The event is an all match play show. The tournament will continue through next Saturday.

Mrs. C. J. Bansbach and daughter, Lolla Jane, of Mohawk, won Midlothian's third annual Mater-filia tournament yesterday, shooting 107—26—81. Mrs. F. S. Jensen and Virginia of Wilmette were second with 100—15—85, while Mrs. H. S. Sines and daughter, Gladys, Olympia Fields, with 98 were low gross.

The mothers drove from the first tee and thereafter alternate strokes were played. The handicaps allowed were half of the combined imposts on mothers and daughters.

DICK TRACY—Moving Day

Sox Lose to Indians, 12-9; Then Win, 6-5

Walker beat out a bunt in the fourth and this put the Sox on the road to their four run rally which meant a momentary tie. Next there was a pass to Radcliff. Appling singled to left and Walker sprinted home. Kreevich lined to Campbell and Radcliff was forced at third on Kuhel's poke in front of the plate. Rensa's infield single filled the bases. The three runners were driven home on singles by Lyons and Berger.

Lyons held the tie only until the Indians could get a whack at him in the fifth. Heath and Averill singled and Trosky walked. All this came in succession after one was out. Heath scored while Keltner was forcing Trosky. The Indians made it 6 to 4 with another run in the sixth. Lary walked, Campbell flied out, and Hale walked. Heath pasted a single into center, Lary scoring. Lyons then fanned Averill, and Trosky rolled out.

Sox Tie Score.

The Indians completed the wrecking of Lyons with four hits in the eighth. Campbell singled with one out and stole second, although the Sox thought Umpire Hubbard had erred in the decision. Hale and Averill then singled and Trosky doubled to round out the three runs.

Walker walked to open the home eighth and this became the first of the five runs with which the Sox knotted the count for the second time. Radcliff and Appling singled, Walker scoring. Kreevich dropped a single in front of Averill, filling the bases. Kuhel caromed a single off Harder's glove and Radcliff counted. Whitehill dashed to the rescue and walked Rensa, Appling scoring. Dykes batted for Lyons and was squelched on a short fly to Heath. Berger fanned, but Owen singled to left, sending Kreevich and Kuhel across with the tying runs. Walker forced Owen.

SECOND GAME

The services of seven men were required for the Sox to collect one run in the first inning of the second engagement. Owen singled and after the second out Radcliff singled. Galehouse walked both Appling and Kreevich, forcing Owen to score. Kuhel fanned with the bases filled. The Sox hung up another run in the second inning on singles by Rigney, Owen, and Walker, but Radcliff struck out with two on bases.

Only two Indians performed in the ceremony in which they tied the score in their half of the third. Keltner led off with a single to center and resumed his travels immediately, followed by Hemsley, who hit the ball into the left field lower deck for his first homer of the season.

The Sox derived nothing from a full house in the fourth but when the same situation arose in the fifth it aroused the ire of Berger. Prior to Berger's appearance Kreevich had walked, Kuhel had singled, and Rigney had walked after the second out. This is where Berger stepped in with a two bagger down the left field line, Kreevich and Kuhel scoring to put the Sox ahead by 4 to 2.

Indians Tie it Up.

Singles by Walker and Radcliff along with an error by Heath increased the Sox lead to three runs in the sixth but it was only temporary. The Indians bounced up with a tying rally off Rigney in the seventh. This started with a homer to left by Keltner, making 19 for the Freshman. After Hemsley had been thrown out, Galehouse singled and Lary walked. They advanced on Campbell's out to Kuhel and scored on a single to center by Pytlak, who batted for Kroner. After this there was nothing of importance until Schlueter's single in the ninth.

Bob Feller, the youthful phenom who hasn't been so hot lately, will work for the Indians today in one of their two games scheduled with the White Sox in Comiskey Park. The other Indian starter will be John Humphries or Al Milner. The Sox hopes will be Thornton Lee and Jack Knott.

BEARS ACQUIRE LOU GORDON IN DEAL WITH RAMS

Lou Gordon, for seven years a tackle in the National Football league, will play with the Chicago Bears, Owner George Halas said yesterday. Gordon was acquired from the Cleveland Rams in exchange for Vannie Albeneese and Bill Wade.

Gordon started his football career at Lane Tech and later played at the University of Illinois. He joined the Cardinals in 1931 and played with that club five years. He then went with the Green Bay Packers and recently was traded to Cleveland.

Halas denied yesterday that Full Back Sam Francis had been retired. He said that he would be glad to have Francis with the club again this season if Francis wishes to play.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Bird Banding Started.

Bird banding was started this week on The Tribune's Du Page county farm. The first bird taken in the rectangular ground trap was a catbird. A tiny aluminum band was placed on its right leg and then it was released. The second bird to get a numbered band on its right leg was a cowbird.

Banding with numbered bands provides a method of studying living birds of all kinds. The routes used by migrating birds, how far year round residents will fly from their nesting place, the length of life of some of our bird species, the homing instinct of different species—these and many other questions have been interesting ornithologists for many years. Banding is providing the answers to many such questions.

Follow Habits of Pair.

The bird student often wonders if the same pair of robins or wrens will come back year after year to the same nesting location in a suburban garden or yard. The possibility that the young birds raised by the adult birds may return to their nesting spot is even more interesting. By means of banding much light has been thrown on these habits of some of our common songbirds.

One of the most important discoveries ever made about homing instinct was due to banding. It was the discovery of the late William Lyon of Waukegan, dean of American bird banders, regarding the cowbird. By banding cowbirds and releasing them far from his bird stations he learned that the plebeian and unattractive cowbird has an unerring instinct to find its way home.

Mr. Lyon took cowbirds, which he trapped in his garden, and had them transported by automobile as far south as the gulf, to the western prairies, east into Michigan, and northwest to the western Canadian provinces before they were released. With them he also sent at times bluejays, redwings, and other birds. These species would fail to come back to their temporary home in Mr. Lyon's yard.

Identified by Bands.

But given a few days or a couple of weeks, depending on the distance, and the homely cowbirds would fly back to Waukegan into Mr. Lyon's yard, find a baited trap, and walk into it. Bands on their legs made it possible to identify these travelers as active and strong as ever.

Mr. Lyon's remarkable experiments with cowbirds attracted the attention of army officials abroad. They recently asked for complete details of Mr. Lyon's experiments, as they were interested in the possible use of cowbirds as message carriers on battlefields.

Bird banding, properly done, is neither cruel nor harmful. It is under the direction of the United States biological survey, which grants permits for the work. The Du Page county farm coöperators' permit number is 5684. When a bird is caught it is carefully taken from the trap, a tiny aluminum band bearing a number is placed on its leg, and then it is released. The United States biological survey keeps a record of all numbered bands. When a dead bird wearing a band is found the band is sent to Washington to complete the record on the specimen.

At the Tribune farm a good sized plot of ground with a lot of thick shrubbery and flowering plants is used for the trapping site, making it an ideal place for birds like the brown thrasher, cowbird, catbird, and certain migrating sparrows.

WAVE OF SLEEPING SICKNESS AMONG HORSES SPREADS

Farmers Fight Disease in 16 Counties.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Farmers, horsemen, and veterinarians are becoming alarmed over the way sleeping sickness [encephalomyelitis] is being spread by mosquitoes among horses in Illinois and adjoining states. More than fifty cases in fifteen counties have been reported to Dr. H. C. Rinhart, state veterinarian, at Springfield.

In black are the 16 Illinois counties where horse sleeping sickness is worst.

In addition to these cases, an Aledo correspondent reported yesterday that there were at least twenty-five cases in scattered communities over Mercer county. This makes a total of sixteen counties reporting more than seventy-five horses sick with the malady.

Cases have been reported to the University of Illinois and THE TRIBUNE within the last few days in Illinois communities around Dwight, Freeport, Barrington, Carthage, Fithian, Gifford, and Moline.

Race Horses Escape Disease.

Dr. G. B. McKillip, veterinarian representing the state racing commission, said last night that there are no cases of sleeping sickness among the 1,200 horses quartered at the Washington Park and Lincoln Fields race tracks.

He asserted that race horses in active training seldom get the disease because of the care they are given and because most of their stalls are heavily screened so that flies and mosquitoes cannot get to them.

Dr. Rinhart finds that the malady has spread rapidly within the last few days. He says that the veterinarians reporting sleeping sickness to him are generally using vaccine to prevent spread of the disease and are reporting good results.

A Chicago biological laboratory recently has shipped vaccine to veterinarians at Harvard, Woodstock, Antioch, Dundee, Annawan, Morrison, Sterling, McHenry, Roselle, Atkinson, Marengo, and Wheaton. Around most of these places actual cases of sleeping sickness have been found. Farmers in these areas are becoming concerned over the danger of losing their horses and are vaccinating the animals to prevent the disease.

Preventive Measures Needed.

Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse and Mule Association of America, warned farmers yesterday to take steps to protect their horses and mules against sleeping sickness before they are stricken with the disease.

Veterinarians urge farmers to protect their horses and mules by using vaccine, and by screening their stables, spraying the animals with a mosquito and fly repellent about four or five times a day, and using fly nets and muslin coverings on work horses in the field.

Henry, 9; Hancock, 5; Iroquois, 2; Cook, 4; Christian, 11; Livingston, 4; Kane, 1; Will, 2; Cass, 1; Jo Daviess, 5; Bureau, 8. Cases also are reported to Springfield from Scott, Schuyler, Brown, and Warren counties and in addition there is the unofficial report from Mercer county.

JAILED ON GIRL'S CHARGE.

Emil Newman, 72 years old, 4112 Montrose avenue, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Thomas A. Green to serve a year in the Bridewell for contributing to the delinquency of a girl, 16 years old.

CHICAGO WOMAN CLAIMS $20,000,000 SNUFF FORTUNE

A Chicago woman came forward yesterday as a claimant to the $20,000,000 snuff fortune left by Mrs. Henrietta Schaeffer Garrett of Philadelphia, Pa. More than 20,000 other persons in the United States and Europe also hope to establish themselves as heirs.

The Chicago claimant is Mrs. Gertrude Adams, a widow, of 2625 Ainslie street. Her attorney, Mary Berkemeier Quinn, said that a search of family records showed that Mrs. Adams' husband's great-grandfather was the brother of Christian Schaeffer, father of the wealthy Henrietta Schaeffer Garrett.

Mrs. Garrett got her fortune when her husband, Walter, a snuff manufacturer, died in 1895, leaving her approximately $6,000,000. This had grown to $17,000,000 when she died in 1930, and is now estimated at $20,000,000. She left a will disposing of only $62,500 of the estate. No close living relatives have been found.

BONDSMEN FOR MISSING TRUSTEE PAY BACK $15,000

Bonding companies have repaid more than $15,000 into estates over which William S. Welch, former Joliet insurance man, had served as conservator or federal bankruptcy trustee. A search of federal dockets in Chicago and Probate and Circuit court records in Will county revealed this shortage yesterday.

Welch, who has been missing for several months, is sought by government agents on a warant charging him with taking $3,500 from the estate of the Henneberry Motor Sales, Inc., of Joliet. This concern has been in bankruptcy for seven years. Warants charging Welch with defalcations in several other cases are expected to be obtained by Assistant United States Attorney Thomas B. Hart.

JUDGE DEFENDS LENIENCY FOR NEGRO CABBIES

Just a Safety Measure, Says Holland.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Judge Eugene J. Holland of the racket branch of the Municipal court expressed his views yesterday about the jitney business being operated by colored taxicab drivers on the south side. The judge denied that any political considerations moved him in refusing to fine the driver-defendants in nearly 2,000 such cases this year.

The latest instance of this practice was on Thursday when sixty-five drivers appeared before Judge Holland. He discharged all but four of them when they displayed membership cards in the Bronzeville Chauffeurs' Safety club.

Warns He'll Continue Leniency.

It is no secret that for the last five to ten years 10 cent taxicab rides have been in vogue in the south side colored district, Judge Holland said. This has been true even though several ordinances are violated by the practice. If the custom is to be stopped, he said, it must be by the "administrative branch." He asserted he will continue refusing to fine offenders of this sort brought before him.

City and park police complained that Judge Holland showed partiality toward members of the drivers' safety club. In return, they said, the members campaigned for Judge Holland in the last primary and are expected to do so again in the fall election at which he is a candidate for another term.

Thanks Club Officials for Help.

Police attached to the vehicle bureau said that prior to the primary all such cases were continued. Then, early in May, they related, Judge Holland dismissed about 600 cases in one day. He thanked the officers of the Bronzeville club for their help to him in the campaign, and told the chauffeurs they should be proud to belong to such a great organization.

"I think the Bronzeville club has been of great help in reducing accidents," Judge Holland explained yesterday.

"I told them if they would work with me to bring about better safety conditions and get rid of objectionable drivers I would not fine any one for picking up extra passengers. I think my policy has been effective.

"The men make little enough and probably couldn't pay a $2 fine. It costs them $2 or $3 for bail when they are arrested. If the administrative branch wants to stop the jitney cabs in the colored district the way to go about it is to revoke licenses, not to fine the chauffeurs."

Lieut. Edward Dwyer, head of the vehicle bureau, said his men would continue to arrest the Bronzeville chauffeurs despite Judge Holland's attitude.

Lost? Boy, 3, Only Playing a Game with Searchers

Arkansas City, Kas., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Don Earl Delisle, 3 years old, thought 75 searchers were playing a game with him, he explained today, so he remained hidden in brush. He was found six hours after he wandered away from his home. He wasn't lost, he said, because he saw several searchers pass his hiding place.

WAR FEAR LIFTS GOLD PRICE TO TWO YEAR PEAK

EuropeansPurchase to Protect Funds.

Gold sold yesterday at the highest price in nearly two years on the London market. Renewed demand for the metal by European capitalists seeking protection for their funds from possible confiscation or depreciation in the event of war was credited with causing the market upturn.

Unsettlement over the outlook in central Europe and the far east was reflected also on the stock exchanges in the principal European centers and in New York. On the international exchange market the American dollar resumed its rise against other major currencies. British and French currencies declined as holders sold to buy gold and American currency and securities.

London brokers posted a price of 142 shillings 8 pence an ounce for gold at the opening of the market. This was an increase of 3¼ pence over Thursday's price and the highest figure at which the metal has been quoted since 1936. The London price was equivalent to $34.78 an ounce compared with $34.77 on the preceding day. The London market has been rising for some time, but the American equivalent has not recorded a corresponding gain because the value of British currency has been falling in terms of the dollar.

Gold sales in London totaled about $9,970,000 yesterday. About $8,000,000 was taken Thursday. Since the beginning of July it is estimated that $100,000,000 of gold has been purchased in the London market and withdrawn from circulation. Estimates are that European capitalists are hoarding more than $1,250,000,000 gold.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported the engagement yesterday of $723,000 gold in Australia and $1,658,000 in England for shipment to the United States.

Buy U. S. Dollars, Securities.

Europeans have been shipping gold to the United States for conversion into dollars or American securities. Since July 26 more than $16,000,000 of gold has been engaged in London for shipment to New York. The outward movement of capital from England and France resulted in declines in the pound and the franc.

The pound was quoted yesterday near its old parity of $4.867. It closed at $4.87¼, compared with $4.876875 on the preceding day. The French franc dropped to 2.725 from 2.72 11-16 cents. The discount on ninety day francs increased .10 of a cent from 0.07125 cent on Thursday.

Gold company shares were in demand on the London Stock exchange, but other classes of securities were lower. Weakness also developed on the Paris bourse. The slump in stock prices abroad occurred before the decline in stock prices in New York.

German Capital Flees.

A flight of capital from Germany was reported in dispatches from London. Wealthy Germans, alarmed by war possibilities and the prospects of an economic slump in Germany were reported to be sending funds out of the country. Nazi party officials were said to be among those using underground channels to transfer money out of the country.

Exportations of German mark bills and coins are prohibited, but dealers in London, Zurich, Amsterdam, and Paris trade in them freely. London dealers handle an estimated $20,000 to $100,000 in mark bills daily and a substantial additional quantity of silver marks.

Carries Kerosene Cargo in Nickel Lined Hold

Cheese Held in Storage at All-Time Peak

Increased output and heavy storage of cheese brought warehouse stocks to an all time peak of 114,154,000 pounds on Aug. 1, the bureau of agricultural economics disclosed yesterday. Previous peak holdings were 108,624,000 pounds on Oct. 1, 1934. On Aug. 1, 1937, stocks amounted to 100,418,000 pounds. The five year average [1933-'37] for Aug. 1 was 88,668,000 pounds.

Cheese production this year, besides being particularly heavy in Wisconsin, the chief producing state, has been boosted by increased output in southern states. Excessive stocks caused Wisconsin cheese producers this week to consider taking a cheese making holiday. More production in the south has been fostered by the federal policy of plowing under cotton, leaving land for dairy cattle raising.

U. S. Buying Boosts Output.

Another factor in the glut, according to cheese traders, has been the artificial raising of cheese prices by the government. This has been done through purchases by the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation on the Wisconsin Cheese exchange at Plymouth, leading cheese board in the country.

Wisconsin-held stocks of cheese were estimated at 54,000,000 pounds on Aug. 1, an increase of more than 20 per cent from the total of 44,300,000 a year earlier.

Reserve butter stocks, reflecting this season's favorable production conditions, increased on Aug. 1 to 172,505,000 pounds, largest stocks for that date on record. This was 48,642,000 pounds higher than stocks a year earlier, and was within 2,971,000 pounds of the all time peak established in September, 1938. Storage of butter has also been increased by federal policies.

Buy Butter with U. S. Loans.

Beginning June 16 a specially created butter buying agency, the Dairy Products Marketing association, began to buy butter, using funds borrowed from the federal government.

The total Aug. 1 holdings, the report showed, included 17,360,000 pounds of butter bought by the association. Since then, purchases by the association have been at the rate of more than a million pounds a day.

Refrigerator stocks of shell eggs on Aug. 1 were estimated by the bureau at 6,407,000 cases [192,210,000 dozens] the smallest on record for that date. This was 3,160,000 cases [124,800,000 dozens] less than the 1924-'34 average for the date.

Supplies of canned eggs declined 3,159,000 pounds during July to 134,351,000 pounds on Aug. 1. This was a drop of 31,525,000 pounds from stocks on Aug. 1, 1937. Frozen poultry holdings were cut 871,000 pounds in July to 52,561,000 pounds on Aug. 1, compared with 70,040,000 pounds a year earlier.

CHANGE TRADE RULE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin Cheese exchange today adopted new by-laws to create an open board which it hopes will expedite trading. It took this action to reduce the glut of cheese on the market. The new by-laws will change the method of marketing to a bid and offer basis. Cheese will be offered on the board at a stated price and buyer and seller will have a period of 40 minutes for bargaining and reaching an agreement. Under the old rules, a seller merely listed his offerings without price and bargaining was automatically cut off in five minutes.

BREAK IN HOGS HALTS; FARMERS CUT SHIPMENTS

Farmers' refusal to accept further price cuts on hogs was responsible for sharp curtailment of supplies yesterday and the checking of the severe break that swept the markets earlier this week. Prices yesterday were mostly about steady with the average of the preceding day, slight strength in some classes being offset by weakness in others. Both the top and average remained steady at $8.75 and $7.50, respectively.

Sellers managed to apply the brakes to the downward swing of prices for hogs despite further declines in wholesale pork markets. Fresh pork sold weak to 50 cents lower.

Only 6,000 hogs arrived at the Chicago stockyards yesterday, one of the smallest Friday totals of the season. The clearance was the best of the week despite the unsatisfactory trade for fresh pork.

Slaughter lambs brought strong to 15 cents higher prices yesterday. Packers gave steady prices for most of the meager supply of steer and yearlings offered.

Business Books

"Control Policies of the Reichsbank, 1924-1933," by Mildred B. Northrop. [Columbia University Press, 2960 Broadway, New York City. Price, $4.]

The author covers the decade which included the beginning and the end of the reichsbank of Germany as a free central bank. Although the study is of one specific central bank, it was undertaken in the belief that knowledge of the operations of central banks is too limited to permit broad generalizations on the objectives and technique of monetary management. The connection between the reichsbank and the economic development of Germany is traced and policies and objectives in its control of credit are discussed.

NEW LAKE SHIP EQUIPPED FOR RAPID CLEANING

The Dolomite 4, ending its maiden trip from Oswego, N. Y., docked at the Hughes Oil company pier, East Chicago, early yesterday morning. It brought a shipment of a million gallons of kerosene in holds lined with pure nickel sheet. This cargo was unloaded yesterday. Today the boat will go to South Chicago to pick up a cargo of wheat. The holds were steam cleaned last night.

This is said to be the first time that nickel sheet lining has been used in the hold of so large a ship as the Dolomite 4. Its use permits rapid steam cleaning.

The boat, owned by the Dolomite Marine corporation, Rochester, N. Y., is 300 feet long, with a beam of 43 feet 4 inches. It is reported to be the largest all welded vessel on the Great Lakes. After the close of lakes navigation in the fall it will carry cargoes between Gulf of Mexico ports and Norfolk, Va.

FREIGHT TRAFIC DECLINES; COAL MOVEMENT DIPS

A sharp decline in coal shipments caused railroad freight trafic in the week ended Aug. 6 to fall 0.8 per cent below the preceding week, the Association of American Railroads said yesterday.

Freight cars loaded by the nation's railroads in the week ended Aug. 6 totaled 584,050, or 4,653 less than the 588,703 cars loaded in the preceding week.

Last week's loadings were 23.8 per cent under those of the like 1937 period and 19.8 per cent below those of two years ago. In the preceding week, ended July 30, loadings were 24.4 per cent under those of the similar 1937 week and 21.2 per cent under 1936.

Car loadings of the various commodities compare as follows:

STORAGE SUPPLY OF MEATS CUT IN LAST MONTH

There was an out of storage movement of all meats except beef during last month, the department of agriculture reported yesterday. The aggregate total of all meats in storage plants on Aug. 1 at 477,314,000 pounds was smallest of the year and second smallest on record for Aug. 1. It compared with 515,527,000 pounds on July 1, indicating a decline at the rate of more than 1,200,000 pounds daily.

A year ago the country's reserve supply was 578,649,000 pounds, and the five year average holdings stand at 661,826,000.

Practically all of the decrease for last month was in pork. Stock of pork on Aug. 1 at 379,033,000 pounds compared with 417,704,000 pounds on July 1, with 467,273,000 a year ago and a five year average of 546,206,000.

Stocks of beef increased from 33,730,000 pounds on July 1 to 35,965,000 on Aug. 1. This compared with 51,466,000 in 1937 and a five year average of 49,445,000.

OUTPUT OF AUTOS AT YEAR'S LOW; EXPECT UPTURN

Production of automobiles this week was estimated yesterday at 13,790 units by Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc. Last week production totaled 14,771 cars and trucks and in the corresponding 1937 week the total was 103,250.

The total for this week marked the 1938 low, Ward's said, and production may be expected to rise steadily from now until November or December. Reëmployment is gradually increasing in many plants as preparations are made for the new models.

HOLC Plans to Retire 49 Millions of Bonds

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Plans to retire a $49,532,100 issue of 2 per cent bonds of the Home Owners Loan corporation, maturing on Aug. 15, were announced today by the corporation. This will bring to a total of $403,816,675 the HOLC bonds which have been ordered retired and canceled.

Export Copper Price Dips on London Break

The price of American copper for export declined yesterday. An influence was the drop in copper futures on the London Metal exchange. The quotation for export copper ranged down to 10.07 cents a pound, compared with Thursday's range of 10.29 to 10.35 cents. It was the first time in recent weeks that the export price had fallen below the domestic quotation.

Domestic copper held unchanged at 10.125 cents a pound. Scrap smelters, however, cut the buying price of scrap copper ¼ cent a pound to 8½ cents in line with the drop in export metal.

Copper Stocks Reduced.

July statistics released yesterday showed that domestic stocks of refined copper decreased 19,000 tons during the month to a total of 339,970 tons on July 31. This was nearly three times the stocks of 117,740 tons on July 31, 1937, however. World consumption amounted to 167,782 tons in July against 145,393 tons in June and 180,600 in July, 1937. Domestic consumption was 41,249 tons against 32,863 in June and 67,356 in July, 1937.

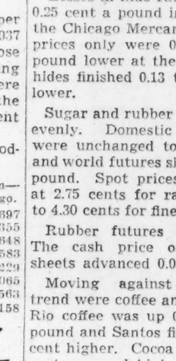
No meetings are scheduled for today and the conference with the railway management group will be resumed Monday morning.

I. C. C. INCREASES PAY OF SEC MEMBER FOR WORK IN RAIL CASE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission increased by $6,000 today the compensation of Jerome N. Frank for his services as special counsel in the Missouri Pacific railroad reorganization proceedings. In an order July 8, the I. C. C. fixed $16,000 as Frank's maximum final allowance. This was in addition to an earlier allowance of $16,000.



Jerome N. Frank.

Frank, who now is a member of the securities commission, asked reconsideration, asserting the total approved compensation was "wholly inadequate, in view of the time devoted to the services, the skill and ability required and displayed, the importance of the work."

Ernest A. Green, St. Louis attorney who worked with Frank in the terminal shares litigation, has received total compensation of $21,000, but no final allowance has been made.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday that department store sales in the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district during the week ended Aug. 6 were 13.2 per cent less than in the corresponding 1937 period. In the preceding week sales were 16 per cent below those of a year ago.

Sales in Chicago stores alone also showed less decline from the similar 1937 week. During the week ended Aug. 6 these stores sold 7.8 per cent less merchandise than in the like period last year. Sales in the week ended July 30 were 14.2 per cent under 1937.

WPA Worker Asks 30 Million to Build Rail

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 12.—(AP)—A Pittsburgh WPA worker, Roy Greene, today disclosed his plan to build a high speed electric railway under the Allegheny mountains between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, Pa. Greene, who studied electricity through a mail course, would take up the work dropped by William H. Vanderbilt many years ago. His project conflicts with that of the state administration, which plans, with the aid of federal funds, to build a $60,000,000 all-weather "dream" highway over the route of the abandoned railroad's right of way.

Greene says he has no money, but has applied to the interstate commerce commission for authority to carry out his project, and a hearing has been set for Aug. 22 on the application before United States Engineer J. S. Prichard at Washington.

Needs About 30 Millions.

He proposes, if his application is granted, to form "some sort of corporation, probably a federal corporation," and has under consideration application for an RFC or PWA loan "for about $30,000,000."

The Pennsylvania turnpike commission, named to build the "dream" highway, will advertise for bids on the first section of the project as soon as details of its RFC-WPA financing plan involving the sale of debentures to secure the RFC loan are completed. Greene would dispose of the turnpike competition by scrapping that project.

The WPA worker has been studying his plan for several years, but said that, at this time, private financing is a bit difficult.

Abandoned by Vanderbilt.

Late in the 19th century, when Vanderbilt needed an east-west railroad into Pittsburgh to share in the business resulting from the steel boom, he bought land for a right of way that became known as the South Penn railroad. Millions were spent, tunnels were drilled under the Alleghenies, and the road bed leveled in many places, but the project was later abandoned.

The present highway route, the Lincoln, winds for nearly 100 miles through the Alleghenies. Fogs and rain frequently interfere with trafic. The all-weather highway would eliminate this—for those who prefer to pay tolls—by utilizing the abandoned tunnels.

STATE RECEIVES BIDS ON $2,373,793 OF ROAD WORK

The state division of highways at Springfield yesterday received bids aggregating $2,373,793 for road pavement and bridge work. The bulk of the bids—$1,452,262—was for the Chicago area.

OIL FIRM CLAIMS CARGO SHIPPED OUT OF MEXICO

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Mexican Eagle Oil company was reported to have seized 1,000 tons of oil in two tank lighters at Dordrecht today on the contention it still owned the expropriated wells which produced the cargoes in Mexico.

The seizure was reported to have had the permission of the port's Court of Justice. Mexican Eagle [Aguila] was one of the eighteen British and American companies expropriated by the Mexican government May 18.

Meanwhile the Bataafsche Petroleum company, a member of the Shell group, appealed from a court judgment which lifted an embargo placed previously on the Swedish tanker Lundgren, carrying a shipment of Mexican oil. The embargo was granted June 18 and removed Aug. 2.

Wabash Reorganization Hearing Delayed to Nov.15

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission continued today from Sept. 5 to Nov. 15 hearings in connection with reorganization of the Wabash railway. The postponement was asked by a group of insurance companies, and agreed to by officials of the railroad. The delay was asked to give the companies time to collect additional data.

STEEL INDUSTRY MORE ACTIVE IN SOME DISTRICTS

Recalls Workers in the Birmingham Area.

Increased activity in the steel industry and allied lines was reported yesterday in various parts of the country. One of the most lively districts was Birmingham. It was estimated that between 5,000 and 6,000 men would be recalled to work in plants there by the end of this month.

At Birmingham the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, posted notices calling about 2,000 iron ore miners back to work at four of its mines which have been closed since last June. The Republic Steel corporation announced that night shifts were being added at the Raimund Ore mine and the Sayreton Coal mine to increase the production of raw materials for the Gulfsteel division of the corporation at Gadsden, Ala.

Pig Iron Making Brisk.

The making of pig iron in the Birmingham district continued brisk during the week, with nine furnaces active. Two more are expected to be added next week. Steel making held at 50 per cent of capacity, with eleven open harth furnaces in production. The mills generally reported a slow but steady increase in demand for the major steel products.

Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company's Birmingham plant will start work next week on a large order of freight cars for the Southern railway. This will give work to about 700 men.

In the Youngstown, O., district steel operations are expected to move up again next week and then drop back toward the close of the week. The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company is putting an open harth back into production at its Campbell plant. Republic Steel has started warming up an open harth at its Warren plant. Carnegie-Illinois is starting a second blast furnace at its Ohio plant.

Carnegie Cuts Operation.

Offsetting this, Carnegie-Illinois will have two less open harths in operation at its Farrell plant. In all, thirty-eight open harths and three Bessemer convertors will be working on part time in the Youngstown district next week.

Activity in the Chicago district this week was somewhat better than expected. Company officials expect a much larger automobile production, as the reduced output this year cut into supplies. They said that, if the railroad wage fight is decided in favor of the carriers, substantial railroad orders may be expected.

FARMERS TO SUE U. S. FOR $128,000 OVER LOST CROPS

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—One hundred and sixty-seven farmers who own land from above Council Bluffs to below the Missouri line have joined forces to seek $128,000 damages from the United States for crop damage resulting from the 1937 Missouri river overflow. H. O. Mead of Pacific Junction, Ia., leader of the group, announced today. The petition will charge that channel improvement work by army engineers narrowed the river and impeded its flow to such an extent that floods followed in the June, 1937, high water. Permission to bring the suit has been obtained from the government. Mead indicated a larger suit would be filed for 1938 flood damage.

Eastern Railroads' Pickup Service Charge Authorized

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission authorized more than 20 railroads today to begin charges for pick-up and delivery service on Aug. 15. The railroads, all operating in the east are affiliated with the New York Central, Delaware and Hudson, and Boston and Maine systems. Charges for pick-up and delivery service will range from five to ten cents a hundred pounds.

STOCKS TOPPLE FOR FIFTH DAY UNDER SELLING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 12.—Concentrated selling in the second hour on the stock market today sent prices to their lowest levels in a month. Declines ranged from fractions to 3 points in the active stocks. All sections were hit. Support in the last hour lifted prices modestly from their lows.

The turnover swelled to 1,418,690 shares. Trading was so heavy at the height of selling that the ticker trailed for several minutes. Activity quieted in the afternoon.

Today's decline was the fifth successive day of receding values. Opening slightly lower, the list stalled until the selling attack. Numerous stop loss orders were caught on the way down, brokers said, further aggravating the upset.

Lower Prices Attract Support.

The buying which appeared in the afternoon, was traced to traders anxious to get into the market in view of the low level of prices compared with last week.

Today's setback was traced in part to the increasing fears of imminent war in Europe. Some quarters set the date for Aug. 15.

An explanation that found favor with market analysts was that the failure of the list to display rallying tendencies following the last four days of lower prices induced fresh selling and an extension of short lines.

Rounding out the generally unfavorable atmosphere were reports of lower car loadings, a drop in retail trade and the lowest weekly rate of automobile production for the year.

Recent Leaders Decline.

Stocks which had been prominent in the recent advance were freely supplied today. In this classification were General Motors, off ¾; Chrysler, off 2; United States Rubber, off 1¼; Yellow Truck, off ⅞; United States Steel, off 1½; Anaconda, off 1; Radio corporation, off ⅛; Montgomery Ward, off 1⅛; Republic Steel, off ⅝, and Studebaker, off ⅜. An exception was Bendix Aviation, which gained a fraction.

Carrier shares made frequent appearances on the tape at lower prices in the second hour selling splurge. Prominent were New York Central, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, Great Northern, Union Pacific, and Nickel Plate issues. Losses ranged from fractions to more than 1 point.

Utility Issues Weaken.

Oil stocks also were sold in substantial quantity. Standard Oil of New Jersey was the weak spot in the division, slumping 2⅛ points. Aviation issues pared early losses and closed fractionally lower.

Altogether 858 issues were traded, with 705 closing lower, 47 higher, and 106 unchanged. At the close, the Dow-Jones industrial average was at 136.51, off 2.81. The carrier and utility indexes dipped 0.9 and 0.21, respectively.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Selling dominated the bond market today and prices declined on a wide front. Heaviest losses included rails and a group of stock privilege industrial convertibles. Low yield bonds were generally steady, but near the close United States governments turned soft. Unsettlement was accentuated by weakness of the stock market and rumors of renewed tension in Europe over possible moves by Germany for gaining wider influence in Czechoslovakia.

Rails were offered rather freely in face of estimates indicating a generally good showing of August revenues.

United States governments finished 1-32 to 7-32 lower. Foreign dollar issues were uneven. Japanese issues had a further recovery.

Chicago Stocks.

Led by declines in Borg-Warner, Marshall Field, Zenith Radio and other trading favorites, Chicago stocks continued to slump yesterday. Although the volume of trading still was fairly light at 26,000 shares, the same as Thursday, selling persisted throughout the list.

Bendix Aviation, the most active stock on a turnover of 3,500 shares, finished off ⅛ point. Borg-Warner slumped 1¾. Marshall Field, Zenith Radio, Central and South West, Middle West, Butler Brothers, and Chicago corporation declined fractionally. Fifty shares of Western Union, admitted to trading yesterday, were sold at 27⅝.

The exchange announced that the preferred and common stocks of the International Harvester company will be admitted to trading today.

Bank Stocks.

Leading Chicago bank stocks declined again yesterday. Shares of the Northern Trust slumped $5 at $515 bid, $525 asked. Shares of the Chicago Title and Trust company, City National Bank and Trust company, First National bank, and Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company were 75 cents to $3 lower. Bid prices on Harris Trust and Savings bank and American National Bank and Trust company stock were unchanged from Thursday. No shares of the latter stock were offered for sale.

NEW FINANCING MOST ACTIVE IN SEVERAL WEEKS

Large Utility Offerings Increase Volume.

The investment market this week was the most active in several weeks. New issues placed on the market during the period ended Thursday totaled $92,158,000, according to a compilation made by Poor's Publishing company. The total for the preceding week was $7,165,497 and the total for the like 1937 week was $11,083,511.

Several large utility issues brought out during the week were responsible for the large volume. These included issues of Indianapolis Public Service, Toledo Edison, and Public Service Gas and Electric. The New York Steam issue, brought out yesterday by Morgan, Stanley & Co., Inc., was not included in the compilation. This issue, which was brought out at par, yesterday was quoted at a slight premium.

Edison Unit to Issue Notes.

The Indiana public service commission yesterday authorized the Chicago District Electric Generating corporation, which is controled by the Commonwealth Edison company, to issue $5,588,000 in promissory notes, the proceeds of which will be used to refund outstanding securities. The notes will be sold to the Commonwealth Edison company. The operation is a step in Commonwealth Edison's program of refinancing.

The National Cash Register company disclosed yesterday that it has sold to an insurance company $6,000,000 of 3½ per cent debentures, dated Aug. 1, 1938, and due Aug. 1, 1953. Proceeds were used to pay off bank loans which were made largely to finance instalment accounts receivable.

Oil Company Plans Issue.

The Gulf States Utilities company, Beaumont, Tex., received permission from the Securities and Exchange commission to issue $10,000,000 4 per cent first mortgage and refunding bonds. Of the proceeds about $6,500,000 will be used to refund bonds of subsidiaries and to pay indebtedness of both the parent company and subsidiaries. The remaining amount will be used to finance construction and for corporate purposes.

The Lone Star Gas corporation has filed an amendment with the SEC which makes the entire issue of new $20,000,000 of 3½ per cent debentures, due 1953, convertible into common stock. The company previously had proposed to make only $10,000,000 of the debentures convertible.

CITY ICE AND FUEL WILL CONSIDER DIVIDEND SOON

Directors of the City Ice and Fuel company yesterday announced that a special meeting will be held early in September to consider action on a common stock payment. They voted the regular quarterly dividend of $1.62½ on preferred stock. The last dividend paid on the common was 40 cents on June 30. The company, which has headquarters in Cleveland, manufactures and distributes ice, refrigerating machinery, and beer.

Haloid company, photographic equipment firm of Rochester, N. Y., ordered resumption of the dividend on its common stock. A payment of 40 cents will be made Sept. 15 to stockholders of record Sept. 1. No action on the dividend was taken at the June 23 meeting. The previous payment was 25 cents last December.

WHEAT CLOSES LOWER DESPITE BELATED RALLY

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$ .62	$ .62¼	$1.12⅜
Corn	.51¼	.49⅝	.97⅜
Oats	.22⅞	.22⅞	.39½
Rye	.42½	.41½	.83
*Soy beans	.78¾	.79	.97¾

World wheat prices were on the downgrade yesterday and established new seasonal low levels. An array of bearish statistics, combined with weakness in securities, caused a decline of 1¼ cents in futures on the Chicago Board of Trade. The September delivery sold at 61 cents a bushel at the extreme, carrying the market down to the lowest level since April, 1933.

A strong rally in corn led to short covering in wheat, which wiped out the large part of the early decline. Closing wheat trades were unchanged to ¼ cent lower. Price changes in other North American markets ranged from ¼ cent higher to ¾ cent a bushel lower, Winnipeg showing the most weakness.

Corn Recovers Early Loss.

Corn declined a small fraction of a cent a bushel in the early trading, but buying by exporters and professional operators absorbed the surplus in the pit and a rally of about 2 cents from the low point followed. The close was ⅞ to 1½ cents higher, the latter on the September contract. Intimations of a good export demand and reports that about 1,000,000 bushels of cash corn were being loaded out of Chicago grain elevators had some effect on sentiment.

All deliveries of soy beans and lard futures declined to new seasonal low levels. Soy beans were ½ to ¾ cent a bushel lower at the close.

Predicts Small Wheat Exports.

A statement by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace estimating the United States might not sell more than 50,000,000 bushels of cash wheat to importing countries during the 1938-'39 season tended to increase bearish sentiment. Exports during the preceding season were 100,000,000 bushels.

The department of agriculture estimates that the United States has about 1,136,000,000 bushels of cash wheat available for the 1938-'39 season. If exports are 50,000,000 bushels and domestic consumption is equal to the average of 683,000,000 bushels in recent years, Chicago statisticians figure about 400,000,000 bushels will be available for carryover into the next crop year.
